Daring Raid Ends Hijack Ordeal!

Hostages All Safe; Terrorists Killed

BONN, West Germany (AP) — A West German commando force was flying home in triumph from East Africa today after a blitz raid on a hijacked Lufthansa airliner in which the commandos rescued all 86 surviving hostages and killed three of the four hijackers.

After the failure of the hijacking was announced, three of the imprisoned West German terrorists whose freedom the hijackers demanded committed suicide. A fourth terrorist on the list also tried to kill herself and was in critical condition. The Entebbe-style rescue operation early today at Mogadishu, the capital of Somalia, provided "a very serious lesson for some people around the world on how to deal with terrorism," said a West German government spokesman.

Under cover of darkness, the raiders blasted open emergency exits over both wings of the twin-jet airliner. They poured into the passenger cabin hurling "blinding" grenades that stun with a flash of light and loud bang but emit no shrapnel.

They found that the hijackers had rigged the inside of the plane with explosives and poured gasoline over the aisle carpeting. The passengers had been strapped into their seats with their safety belts.

The hijackers apparently did not have enough time to ignite the gasoline or detonate the explosives.

"There was some shooting ... There was no panic. The passengers were evacuated as fast as possible by sliding down inflated slides from the emergency exits," a Lufthansa spokesman said.

A Somali government spokesman said two of the hijackers were killed inside the plane and the third man was wounded and died in a hospital.

Somali officials said nine passengers and one commando were slightly injured in the 10-minute raid and the terrorist who survived, a woman, was badly wounded. Lufthansa, the West German airline, said one other passenger was hospitalized "in a state of collapse," but all the hostages left Mogadishu this morning for home. Radio Somalia reported.

Three German terrorists on the list — Andreas Bader and his mistress, Gudrun Ensslin and Jan-Carl Raspe — committed suicide during the night in their cells, and another on the list, Irmgard Moeller was reported in critical condition after slashing her wrists. Officials said Bader and Raspe shot themselves and Miss Ensslin hanged herself.

Pope Paul VI had offered himself as a hostage on Monday "if it would be of use" in winning freedom for the Lufthansa passengers.

President Carter congratulated German leaders for the "courage of their decision" to end the 43-day hijacking without giving in to the hijackers' demands. Japanese Justice Minister Mitsuo Setoyama, whose government met

Income Tax Hike, Property Tax Cut Proposed By GOP

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Republican leaders are promoting a plan to give low- and middle-income landowners a break on their property taxes.

To pay for the program, however, renters and the rich would get fatter property tax bills and the personal income tax would be raised by about 2.1 per cent.

The plan, to cost an estimated $952 million, was introduced Monday by House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Muskegon, and Assistant Minority Leader John Mowat, R-Adrian. If approved by the legislature, the proposal would appear on the 1978 election ballot as a constitutional amendment.

The proposal would shift the school finance burden by setting up a dual system of property classification. Assessments on residential and agricultural property would be cut by 50 per cent, while the present tax rate for business and industry would be maintained.

The money lost in property taxes would be replaced by a jump in the personal income tax. That tax would have to be raised by about 2.1 per cent, to a 6.7 per cent overall figure. The tax rate is now 4.6 per cent.

The Republicans could encounter many problems in trying to get the proposal through the legislature. Both chambers are led by Democrats, and personal income tax increases are especially unpopular in an approaching election year.

Residential and agricultural property would be assessed at 25 per cent of true cash value under the proposal. Commercial, industrial and timber-covered property would continue to be taxed at 50 per cent of their true cash value. Currently, all property in Michigan is assessed at the 50 per cent rate.

Public school funding generally is financed through property taxes.

"The plan provides greater equity to the mass of middle-income citizens in the state," Cawthorne said. "Higher-income persons probably will have to pay more, and those in the low and middle income category with high property values will be paying less."

Renters — persons not owning property — probably won't pay higher taxes, he said. But he said landlords might drop rents if they get a break in their property taxes.

Cawthorne said the plan was proposed to help offset spiraling property tax hikes, which he said have increased by 120 per cent in the last 12 years.

"Individual incomes, on the average, have just not kept pace with the astronomical increases in property taxes," he said.

He also criticized other alternative property tax relief plans currently pending in both the House and the Senate.

"They are so complex that the average voter is frightened into voting against them when presented as constitutional amendments," he said. "This plan is simple and workable."

Seven states assess property under the dual system, Cawthorne said.

"They have generally had good success with such a system, and there have been few administrative problems," he added.

Ministers Say Killing 'Justified'

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The Southwestern Michigan Baptist Ministers Alliance Crime Committee has come to the conclusion that the July 29 killing of McEldon Tisdell by police was justifiable homicide. The announcement was made in a statement signed by Rev. Elbert Brown, president of the alliance, who said findings of the five-member crime committee were accepted by the alliance which consists of 33 ministers.

Tisdell, 28, was shot and killed by Berrien Springs-Oronoko police who answered a complaint of a disturbance in an apartment at Rose Hill Manor, Berrien Springs. Police said they fired after Tisdell pointed a shotgun at them.

The Berrien prosecutor's office ruled Aug. 2 the killing was justifiable homicide. After the ruling, there were requests from black groups for further investigation.

Rev. Brown said the crime committee reached its decision after conferring with Prosecutor John Smielanka, police involved in the shooting and relatives of Tisdell.

"After a lengthy discussion about the case, the majority came to the conclusion that the officers were justified in their homicide," Rev. Brown's statement said.

Questioned about the committee's investigation, he said: "We do feel there is something there — that hasn't been revealed." He declined to elaborate.

Rev. Brown also said he feels the committee's investigation is "concluded, unless there is some concrete fact brought up that appears worth looking into."

The statement said the committee had promised police officers it would make its position known. The committee also promised to continue working for "justice for all."

Rev. Brown is pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church, Benton Township. Members of the crime committee are Rev. T.N. Wilkins, chairman; Rev. Daniel Cook, Rev. Lawrence Crockett, Rev. C.W. Woodson and Rev. William Caldwell.

Tisdell loaded a shotgun and pointed it at Patrolmen George John and Fred Foster at the apartment. The prosecutor's office said the officers ordered Tisdell to drop the gun then fired in "self-defense."

Police said Tisdell, formerly of Benton Harbor, had been celebrating his birthday and staying at the apartment of his common law wife.

trailer attached to it near here. State police at the Paw Paw post said six others escaped injury in the blaze that claimed the life of Sheila Crandall, Route 1, Three Mile Lake, Paw Paw.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Graden Reinhardt, a deputy county medical examiner from Paw Paw.

She was staying overnight at her girlfriend's home on 48th Avenue near 42nd Street in Waverly township, state police said. The 12 by 60-foot house trailer was attached to a frame house. The fire occurred at 12:40 a.m.

Listed in critical condition with third degree burns over most of her body at Bronson Hospital's Burn Center, Kalamazoo, is two-month-old Jennifer Kyle.

Listed in serious condition at the burn center was George Starks, 38, owner of the home and attached trailer. He suffered second and third degree burns to the head, arms and hands while rescuing the baby.

According to Det. Sgt. Al Hughes, State Fire Marshal's office, Paw Paw, the two older girls, Sheila Crandall, the victim, and her friend, Georgia Starks, 14, were in one bedroom of the trailer when the Crandall girl smelled smoke and alerted Miss Starks.

Hughes said the Starks girl told authorities she ran out the back door of the trailer, but apparently Miss Crandall ran toward the other bedroom where the baby was located.

George Starks, who was in the house at the time, ran to the trailer and removed the baby. The baby's mother, Helen Kyle, was also in the house. The fire marshal said, Hughes said there were nine occupants in the two structures at the time, three in the trailer and six in the house.

Hughes said the fire remains under investigation, but it is believed to have started in a fuel oil furnace in the trailer located next to the baby's bedroom.

Starks reportedly had been attempting to get the furnace working around 11 p.m., Hughes said.

Sheila was a freshman at Paw Paw High School and lived with her mother, Donna Carroll, and her stepfather, Louis Carroll, at Three Mile Lake, Paw Paw.

BH Teachers Ease Back From Brink Of Strike

By JIM SHANAHAN

Benton Harbor teachers voted Monday to amend their strike vote of Oct. 12 to give more time for placing their deadlocked contract issues before the public.

Announcement was made by Martin Duke, spokesman for the Benton Harbor Education Association, who said the BHEA leadership still retains authority to call a strike.

But the BHEA will work to "accurately inform the public and media of the issues involved."

Duke said the time period for contract campaigning is unspecified. He described Monday's vote to amend the strike authorization as "overwhelming" but declined to release totals.

James Caudill, director of communications and spokesman for the school board, said yesterday he was informed the Oct. 12 strike vote was 112 for and 80 against.

Duke said teachers have collected petitions in support of their side and intend to present them to the school board at its regular meeting tonight.

Teachers have continued working without a contract since Aug. 26 when the old two-year contract expired.

Major issues appear as pay, insurance, sick leave and extra duty schedule.

On salary, Caudill said the board is offering a $9,893 minimum for B.A. degree and the BHEA is asking $10,000 the first year of the contract. The board's offer amounts to 3.5 per cent increase, but many teachers would receive much larger increases because of annual percentage increments based on experience.

The U.A. maximum offered by the board is $15,838, and the BHEA is asking $16,000.

The board also has proposed a three-year contract.

The BHEA is demanding retroactivity to date of expiration of the old contract. Caudill said Benton Harbor school boards traditionally have opposed retroactivity except for teachers who advance in experience and educational levels. The board's retroactivity policy rules out beginners and teachers at the top of the pay grid scale.

On insurance, Caudill said the board has proposed contributing up to $80 a month for full family coverage for one year to get an experience factor with another carrier. The BHEA wants health and hospitalization continued with Michigan Education Special Services, affiliate of the Michigan Education Association.

Caudill said the board also would agree to continue with Michigan Education Special Services insurance by paying $88.92 monthly.

The board has agreed to continue sick leave at 10 days a year per teacher but with an overall reduction of total days of 15 per cent. Caudill said total sick days taken in 1975-76 amounted to 4,000 days.

For extra duty pay such as coaching, the board has proposed increments for experience only with the Benton Harbor district. The BHEA wants experience at other schools used in computing pay.

U.S. High Court Might Skirt Reverse Discrimination Issue

Questioning by several justices in last week's oral arguments before the U.S. Supreme Court on the Allan Bakke case indicate a possibility the Court may avoid hitting the issue head-on.

Bakke is a white male applicant to the University of California's medical school at Davis whom the admissions office denied enrollment in favor of several Negro applicants scoring lower on their aptitude tests.

Bakke took the school through the California judicial system and won a decision from the state supreme court ordering his enrollment.

The university has appealed the ruling to the Washington tribunal as undue interference with its internal affairs.

Bakke is counterappealing on the ground that the 14th Amendment bars reverse discrimination as well as the civil rights' conception of direct discrimination.

Dozens of civil rights organizations and groups favorable to Bakke have filed friend of the court briefs.

The Justice Department, under strong lobbying from civil rights proponents, has filed a brief which seeks to ride both sides of the fence. Quotas are wrong, argues Justice, but affirmative action is both right and desirable.

The justices' line of questioning prompts many Washington observers to speculate the Court might shy from the absolutist determination sought by the contending parties and take one of the following alternatives:

Decide the case on the 1964 Civil Rights Act which bans discrimination in federally assisted programs rather than under the broader canopy of the 14th Amendment's equal protection clause.

Return the case to the California supreme court with instruction to scan the Davis admissions program under the light of the state constitution.

Conclude that race may be a justifiable consideration in admissions procedure, but require a stronger evidentiary showing than exists in the Bakke situation.

While the opposition to Bakke talks loudly for a clearcut decision, privately it hopes the Court will put off the day of reckoning.

The Justice Department's brief says as much.

The strongest compulsion for wanting the Court to remain on the fringe of this touchy question is the hope that affirmative action can accomplish by indirection what basically is in conflict with the 14th Amendment.

In fact the Davis campus itself has a reverse Bakke case on its hands.

About the time Bakke was running afoul of the admissions procedure, Rita Greenwald Clancy, a Russian emigre, was experiencing the same difficulty.

Unable to speak English and living in a poverty level family, Mrs. Clancy sought admission to the medical school under its underprivileged enrollment program.

Rejected for that route, she then applied through normal channels.

She lost out to higher test scores from other applicants.

Mrs. Clancy then went into the California courts which have installed her as a student under the special program.

The California ruling rests on a finding that the racial preference given in the Davis program is at fault.

Thus far the school has chosen not to make a fight over that conclusion.

Suits like Bakke and Clancy are bound to multiply unless the Supreme Court comes to grips with the quota methodology in discrimination areas.

Although the advocates of affirmative action vigorously deny any reliance upon quotas, they are the handle by which the affirmative action theory is put into effect.

They are fast losing any sense of proportion and already have gone far beyond the traditional definition of fairness.

Bakke represents the opportunity to bring the horse back in front of the cart.

Credibility Problem With Postal Service

A year and a half ago, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar had this to say about the future of the Postal Service, in a Detroit speech: "Our mail volume for 1978, slightly over 90 billion pieces, will probably stand forever as our peak, for we project that over the next five years volume will slump to 83 or 84 billion — and never recover."

That pessimistic projection contrasts sharply with the actual performance for the fiscal year which ended September 30, and projections the service now makes for the future. A five-year projection included in a report submitted by Senior Assistant Postmaster General Francis X. Biglin states that 92 billion pieces of mail were processed in the last fiscal year — two billion more than the previous year — and volume should reach 100 billion by fiscal 1981.

Even educated projections, of course, are only guesses. The Biglin estimates could be as wrong as the earlier Bailar assessment. Performance remains a better yardstick than projections and on that basis the Postal Service should take a hard look at the new round of rate increases it is proposing for next summer.

A large part of the service's costs are fixed in the sense that they change little whether the volume of mail moves slightly up or down. Assuming strict cost control techniques are applied, then, the future success of the Postal Service depends upon maintaining a steady increase in its volume. That can best be achieved by refraining from continuing the procession of rate hikes the service has resorted to in the past.

Constantly charging more for the same service, or less, is almost guaranteed to make those earlier estimates of sagging volume come true.

Lakeshore Board Okays Budget Of $5.3 Million

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

The Lakeshore School Board last night approved a 1977-78 operating budget of $5.3 million, 7.9 percent above last year's actual expenditures.

The school district administration had recommended a budget of $5,390,580, but following a public hearing on the budget the board decided unanimously to leave $90,580 as cash equity in case of emergencies.

The board left it up to school administrators to make whatever cuts are necessary in trimming the budget by $90,580. The cuts are not to be in areas of education.

The administration's recommended budget of $5,390,580 included using all of the district's $440,300 cash equity, but the $5.3 million budget approved leaves $90,580 in cash reserve.

Income to meet the $5.3 million budget has been pegged as follows: Local property taxes, $2,483,900; state aid, $2,381,400; intermediate district, $33,000; federal funding, $90,000; miscellaneous, $2,000; and $340,740 in cash equity.

Superintendent Frederick Schmidt said that salaries and fringe benefits for all school district employees "make up slightly over 80 percent of the budget with certified teachers' salaries and benefits accounting for around 67 percent."

Other major expenditures outlined in the budget include $678,339 for operations and maintenance, $319,850 for transportation, and $136,920 for library services.

In other areas, the board heard two separate requests from parents concerning the possibility of changing school bus stops in order to provide more safety for young children.

Attorney J. T. Parish represented a group of parents that live in subdivisions immediately north of Glenford Road, between Washington and Cleveland Avenues. He requested a solution be found in order that some 15 children in grades K-2 attending Stewart Elementary School do not have to cross Glenford Road when being dropped off after school in the afternoon. Parish is also a parent of one of the children involved.

James Singerling, 3806 Windermere, said he represented parents of 13 children, ages 5-9, and requested the morning school bus drive into Windermere to pickup the children instead of stopping on busy Maiden Lane, where there is no shoulder for the students to stand on.

John Steinke, board president, said both requests would be reviewed by the administration and transportation director. Recommendations will be made at the next regular board meeting. Steinke also requested that all board members tour the two areas in question before the Nov. 21 meeting.

The board accepted the low interest bid of 3.64 percent from First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan on a school loan of $850,000 in anticipation of state aid. Three other bids were received.

Schmidt said fourth Friday enrollment count showed Lakeshore had 3,854 day students in grades K-12, some 67 less than last year. There are 1,298 students at the high school (grades 9-12); 771 at the junior high (grades 7-8 and 156 6th graders); and 1,785 in the district's five elementary schools (grades K-5); and 117 6th graders).

The district has two less teachers than last year, down to 197.

William Galbreath, assistant superintendent of business affairs, said the district served 390,870 hot lunches during the 1976-77 school year, or about 2,255 per school day. Approximately 80 percent of the students participated in the school lunch program.

Trooper Petition Count Rises

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State police say they have reached the halfway mark in their petition drive to put collective bargaining for troopers to a 1978 vote of the people. Doll Brown, Michigan State Police Troopers Association executive secretary, said members have collected more than 133,000 names. He added he is confident 285,000 signatures will be on the petitions by the end of June. A minimum of 263,702 signatures are required to place a constitutional amendment on the ballot. Brown estimated the petition effort is costing the organization about $6,000 a month in membership dues. The proposed amendment would give troopers and sergeants collective bargaining rights and require compulsory arbitration of disputes.

Another Tack On Admissions

WASHINGTON — For all the emotionalism attached to the issue of "reverse discrimination," the Bakke case now before the Supreme Court may yet serve an invaluable social function.

Because of this highly charged case, a much-needed spotlight has finally been focused on one of the murkiest areas of American education: the admissions policies of colleges, universities and graduate schools.

In a society where advanced education is increasingly perceived as a key to remuneration and challenging careers, the question of who shall be admitted — and why — demands the most careful sort of public scrutiny.

There are more than 3,000 accredited undergraduate institutions in this country, and about a third as many graduate schools for arts and science, law, medicine and management.

The vast majority of these schools, particularly at the graduate level, have selective admissions policies.

But as a new study by the prestigious Carnegie Council on Policy Studies in Higher Education documents, criteria for admission vary wildly from school to school — and student applicants are seldom given any clear description of the qualifications demanded by a given institution.

Neither colleges nor graduate schools select their students on purely objective criteria such as test scores, class rank and grade averages. Subjective assessments have always played a major role in admissions decisions.

In recent years, however, more and more applicants have been seeking admission to schools with only a limited number of places to fill. Competition for entry into medical schools has been especially fierce.

Instead of taking the time and effort to assess each candidate on his or her own merits, many institutions have sought to winnow out applicants simply by jacking up their objective criteria — test scores, class rank, etc.

All too often, according to the Carnegie Council study, the tougher standards bear no relationship to the questions which should be determinative in admissions choices: Can the student successfully handle the work? Does he possess the personal qualities necessary to make a good doctor, lawyer, teacher?

This "inflation" of standards has severely handicapped minority students, who generally score lower than whites on standardized tests. But schools which then waive the academic requirements in order to accept minority applicants create understandable resentment among rejected white students.

It is about time, as the Carnegie Council suggests, for colleges and graduate schools alike to decide exactly how high a student needs to score on admissions tests in order to have a good chance of succeeding in his academic career if admitted.

No school should accept an applicant who cannot meet this minimal standard. But once the threshold is crossed, a student with an 800 score need not be given preference over one with a 600 score if the latter has other qualifications the school values highly.

A great deal of confusion and bitterness could be avoided if schools would make public their objective criteria for admission and explain, to the degree possible, what other factors they are applying in choosing students.

Taiwan Gets The Short End

The First National Bank of Chicago has intimate ties with the Carter administration. Its chairman, Robert Abbott, was an early supporter and financial backer of Carter when he was running for president. Furthermore, the First National Bank of Chicago figure prominently in Bert Lance's tangled and questionable loan operations.

One can be forgiven for surmising that First National of Chicago stands in relation to the Carter administration in something like the relationship Chase Manhattan would have to a Rockefeller administration, should one come to pass.

Well, then, it is hardly surprising that sensitive antennae in the diplomatic and financial communities were alerted when the Wall Street Journal reported on Sept. 30 that the "First National Bank of Chicago, in a major policy change, has decided to curtail business with Taiwan sharply in hopes of winning China's favor."

A First Chicago official said the bank has made "a strategic decision to promote the business relationship between China and the U.S. It clearly intends to do so at the expense of Taiwan." The move marks the first time that a major U.S. multinational bank has backed off publicly from its support of Taiwan. And it comes at a time when China is moving to step up its growth, expanding its economic contacts with the West.

Inquiry at First National of Chicago did not prove particularly illuminating. According to bank spokesmen, the other bank spokesmen quoted by the Wall Street Journal were completely in error. The decision to dump Taiwan had nothing to do with either politics or future business with the People's Republic. It was purely a business decision.

The rationale offered: the bank's commitments in Taiwan are large in relation to the size of the bank, especially since the bank has no branch in Taiwan. The decision was made, therefore, to reduce the size of the bank's "exposure" by allowing the present loans to run to term.

These latter spokesmen almost go so far as to argue that curtailing business with Taiwan is doing Taiwan a favor or at least paying it a compliment. Taiwan "is so sound economically," they say, and getting stronger every day, that it cannot possibly be damaged by the sudden action of First National of Chicago. With an economically weaker borrower, the bank would have hesitated to take this potentially damaging step.

Where future business with the People's Republic of China is concerned, that, too, is a mere business matter.

Well, some skepticism is certainly called for here. If Taiwan is so strong economically, it is obviously a good investment. Is First National of Chicago not in the business of making money for its legal owners, the stockholders?

From a purely business point of view, Taiwan would seem to be a much better investment than the backward, underdeveloped, labor-intensive economy of the People's Republic. The People's Republic, after all, sells practically nothing to the outside world, whereas the Taiwan export-import market is booming.

Politically, moreover, Taiwan is much more stable than the People's Republic, a restless plot-ridden enigma.

Taiwan is politically more stable, that is, unless it is deliberately destabilized. Do Carter's friends at First National of Chicago know something the rest of us will soon find out, in our dismay?

Four SJ Industries Lose Zoning Struggle

Before giving final approval to a new zoning ordinance Monday night, the St. Joseph City Commission changed four industries in the Silver Beach area from industrial zoning to water recreational district.

The last minute change came in a 4 to 1 vote rejecting a planning commission recommendation to leave the industries zoned light industrial. Owners of the industrial property had objected to rezoning. They persuaded the planning commission to recommend keeping it light industrial but failed to persuade the city commission. The city commission decided last night to include the industrial property in the all-new water recreation zone which is aimed at attracting development of a major recreational facility such as a motel, restaurant and marina. With the industrial property, the water recreation zone will take in an area roughly bounded by Elm and Lake streets on the south, the Chessie System tracks on the east, the St. Joseph River on the north, and the Lake Michigan beach on the east.

Businesses affected by the rezoning are IPM Development Engineering, manufacturer of B.I.C. turntables; Dixon Beverage Co.; Crown Inc. janitorial supplies; and Huron Redi-Mix Inc.

All will become nonconforming under the new zoning and may continue in business. But they will not be permitted to expand or change the uses of their property.

Voting to reject the planning commission recommendation were Mayor Franklin Smith and Commissioners Warren Gast, Joseph Hanley and Leroy Seibert. The dissenting vote was cast by William Gillespie who said that since there is no specific development proposal on the table for Silver Beach, the industries should be allowed to keep their present zoning.

The new zoning ordinance will go into effect Oct. 27. It replaces an existing ordinance adopted in 1947 and amended three times since.

In discussion prior to the vote on the Silver Beach industrial zoning, Hanley revealed that the city has been approached by a developer who would only be interested in the water recreation district if the present industrial zoning were eliminated.

Questioned after the meeting, Hanley declined to name the potential developer but he described it as an investment group represented by an attorney and an architect. He said that he and other city officials had met with the attorney and architect within the past 90 days to discuss some preliminary designs for possible development of the area.

He said the meeting was arranged after the city received "a call out of the blue."

Hanley said he would have favored rezoning the Silver Beach industries into the water recreation district even if the meeting had not taken place. "This just cemented it," he added.

He said that if the city had kept the industrial zoning, development of the Silver Beach waterfront would probably never take place.

"This is our last shot at improving that waterfront," Hanley said.

St. Joseph attorney Richard B. Lindenfeld, representing IPM, was unsuccessful in his attempts to persuade commissioners not to resume his client's facility.

"Our contention is that rezoning would be a confiscation of property rights, limiting expansion and flexibility," Lindenfeld said. He also said the rezoning could lower the value of the property.

He said that if the city wants the property, it should acquire it through normal condemnation procedures.

Before adopting the new zoning ordinance, commissioners approved two other major changes.

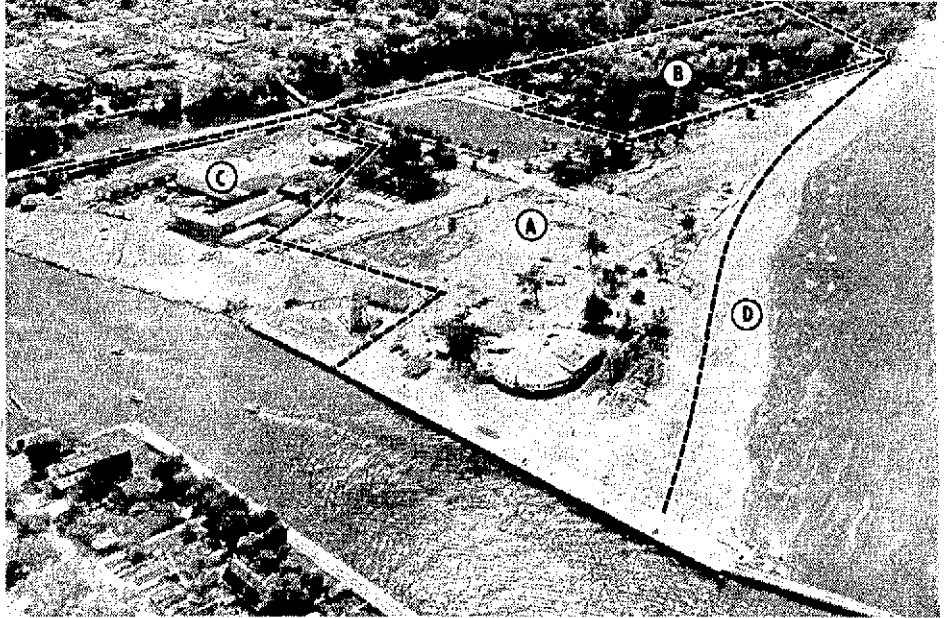

One would allow owners of nonconforming structures — such as a two-unit apartment on a lot zoned single family — to rebuild within one year if the structure is destroyed by more than 50 per cent. Previously, nonconforming structures destroyed 50 per cent or more could not be rebuilt under the new ordinance.

The other change calls for about 3½ blocks of residential property north of Park Street in the Silver Beach area to be zoned single-family rather than water recreation. The area is presently zoned two-family.

Both changes were recommended by the planning commission at its Oct. 6 meeting.

The new zoning ordinance was unveiled in January after the planning commission spent about two years drafting it.

A major aim of the ordinance was to halt conversions of large, older homes into two-unit

LAST-MINUTE ZONING CHANGE: St. Joseph City Commission Monday night changed zoning of Silver Beach industrial area designated by letter C from light industrial to water recreational district despite protest by owners. Change was included in new zoning ordinance that makes entire area of A and C water recreational. City planning commission recommended two weeks ago that area C remain light industrial and area A be rezoned water recreational. Planners' recommendations that area B be changed from two-family to single-family and area D be rezoned open space were approved by city commission. CITY WILL REPAIR: St. Joseph City Commission voted to have city pay for required repairs to bring this house at 3320 Lake Shore Drive up to building code standards. House, occupied by Mrs. Carmen Green, has been cited for numerous building code violations in previous inspections. Repair costs will be added to house's property tax bill and will be spread over five year-period at six per cent interest. (Staff photo)

St. Joe Approves School Bus Stops

The St. Joseph City Commission last night voted final approval for an ordinance that will require school bus drivers to halt traffic with red flashing lights when loading or unloading at certain stops.

The ordinance, which will go into effect Oct. 27, requires City Manager Gerald Hepler to designate the specific school bus stops where flashers are to be used.

Hepler said he will meet with school officials this week and select the stops. Hepler said he will not designate stops such as in front of schools where children never cross the street.

The ordinance also requires the city to post signs warning drivers they must obey the red flashing stop signals.

The maximum penalty for violating the ordinance is $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

Under the state motor vehicle code, school bus drivers cannot use the red flashers inside city limits unless required to do so by local ordinance. The red flashers must be used outside city limits, however.

The request for adoption of the red flasher law was made

Sept. 12 by Mrs. Barbara Willey, 1009 Court St., and Mrs. Katy Post, 1418 Niles Ave. Both were present last night. They made the request on behalf of the recently formed Concerned Citizens for Washington School.

In other areas last night, the commission rejected a request for a taxicab license submitted by Kenneth Burridge, 595 Summit St., Benton Harbor. He said he wanted to start a one-man business.

Burridge offered to give a 25 per cent discount to senior citizens over 62, handicapped people and certain low-income people.

Burridge's license application was objected to by Patrick Mason who identified himself as owner of Twin Cities Cab Lines. Mason said Burridge had quit as a Twin Cities cab driver last April and had filed for unemployment compensation. Burridge admitted to commissioners he was receiving unemployment.

Mason also accused Burridge of using his private vehicle as a taxicab to haul former regular Twin Cities Cab customers at reduced rates.

Mason said Twin Cities cab lines is already losing $10,000 a year — mostly in depreciation. He said that if Burridge is given a license, he will skim off a few hundred dollars of daytime business and make it that much more difficult for Twin Cities to provide round-the-clock service. Burridge's taxi license application was also rejected by the Benton Harbor City Commission last night.

In another area, St. Joseph commissioners voted for the city to pay for required repairs to bring a two-story frame house at 3320 Lake Shore Drive up to building code standards.

The decision was made after the occupant of the house, Mrs. Carmen Green, told commissioners that her father was hospitalized and would be unable to help her perform the required repairs as she had previously promised.

The cost of the repairs will be placed on the property's tax bill and will be spread over a five-year period at six per cent interest.

Commissioners told Mrs. Green that she must allow a city inspection of the house this week, or the city will cancel the repair work and seek to have her evicted so the house can be demolished. She is reportedly buying the house on a land contract from Leonard Kubick of Colorado.

The house has been cited for numerous building code violations in previous inspections. Commissioners in June ordered Mrs. Green to make needed repairs or face having the building demolished.

City Manager Hepler and Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections, said Mrs. Green did not show up at two scheduled inspections last week. Mrs. Green said that one day she was in court and on the other her car broke down.

Whirlpool Increases Dividend

The Board of Directors of Whirlpool Corporation at its meeting held Monday declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on the common stock of the company, an increase of 20 percent from the previous quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share.

The dividend is payable Dec. 31, 1977, to holders of common stock of record at the close of business on Dec. 12, 1977. The last increase in the quarterly dividend was from 20 cents to 25 cents, and was payable March 15, 1977.

BH Fire Alarms Down 33% From Same Period Year Ago

Fire alarms in Benton Harbor dropped 33 per cent the first quarter of the current fiscal year compared to same period of 1976. Fire Chief Harold Gaddie reported the department answered 106 alarms in July, August and September, 1977, and 158 the same three months last year. In September, alarms totaled 31 compared to 48 in September, 1976.

Gaddie said reasons for the decline can't be pinpointed exactly. Last month, in reporting a two-month drop, he said demolition of many substandard buildings had removed firetraps from the city. "There also is evidence that some of the families who have burned out aren't relocating in the city," Gaddie said this month. "If a house isn't worth repairing after a fire, and it's demolished that makes fewer places for people to live," Gaddie noted. "The heating season is now upon us and that can change statistics in a hurry."

BH Garbage Woes Blamed On People

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Charles Yarbrough took a ride on a city garbage truck Friday morning to investigate complaints about trash problems and said last night that he found most of the problems were caused by residents and not the garbage collectors.

"If everybody had to pick up their own garbage, they would be a little more careful about how they took care of it," Yarbrough told the city commission. "These garbage collectors are doing a job for $3.70 an hour that I wouldn't do for $10 an hour."

Yarbrough, who rode a truck picking up garbage and trash in the Fourth Ward, said he saw one woman throw a garbage bag out of a second-story window and then call out to the garbage collectors as they were passing by to pick it up. Yarbrough said he told the garbage collectors to pass her by, and said when they returned to the public works department, they found that the woman had called in a complaint about the crew not picking up her garbage.

Yarbrough also noted that the trash problems caused rat problems, saying everywhere he saw a trash pile-up he saw rats and everywhere trash was kept neatly in plastic bags he saw no rats.

Last week, a group of residents complained to the city commission about problems with rats "as large as rabbits standing on people's porches and running through their living rooms."

In other areas, the commission last night heard one city resident complain about insurance companies canceling homeowners insurance and a landlord complain about problems trying to evict a tenant.

Leonard Reed, of 450 Broadway, told city commissioners an insurance company gave him no explanation when it recently refused to renew the insurance policy on his house.

"I never used the insurance and I made every payment," Reed said. "I just want to know if they canceled my insurance because I live in Benton Harbor."

Reed said the problem appears to be widespread because friends and neighbors who live in the city have told him that they have also had their insurance canceled. He asked city commissioners to do something about the insurance cancellations.

Reed is the husband of Audrey Reed, a candidate for commissioner at large in next month's city election.

Commissioner Michael Govatos said he thought the city should meet with insurance company representatives to find out why insurance is being canceled. "I think we're at least entitled to an explanation."

Govatos also asked Reed to identify the insurance company that canceled his policy, and Reed said it was the Citizens Insurance Company of Howell, Mich.

Richard Lawrick, a landlord, complained that the city has offered him no help in evicting a couple and five children living in a one-bedroom apartment he owns at 621 Territorial Road.

Lawrick said the tenants have not paid rent and he has been trying to evict them since July. "All I want is for the city to enforce its (building) code," he said. "Why do I have to go through all this?" Lawrick said he has had no success in getting the courts to evict the family.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said the city does not have the power to evict tenants. He said the city could ticket the tenants for overcrowding, but said the violation would have to be enforced by the courts.

The commission also voted to accept a $50,000 grant from the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice Programs to provide five community service officers for the city police department.

The community service officers are non-sworn officers and can perform such functions as crossing guards, parking control, clerical work and house checks. Farmer said the grant is to renew the program for the second year and said the city provided a $2,951 matching grant from the city's general fund to receive the grant.

The commission also gave final approval to a request by Triax Tube Co. for a property tax reduction in equipment and rehabilitation work the company plans to make on two buildings it purchased at the bankrupt Benton Harbor Malleable Industries site.

Triax Tube will receive a 50 per cent reduction in property taxes for 12 years for $352,000 worth of equipment and improvements it plans to make on the two buildings.

The commission also voted to advertise for bids for demolition of substandard houses at 391 Rifford St., 374 Washington Ave., 364 High St., 393 Washington Ave., 358 Summit St., and 555 Cass St.

The commission also set a public hearing Nov. 7 on demolition of substandard houses at 433 Rifford St., 332 Warwick Terrace, 257 Jefferson Court, 1033 Monroe St., 439 Ohio, 160 Garfield St., 365 N. Stevens St., 1070 Union St., 580 Rock Court, and a garage at 185 Bellview St.

BH Approves Hours For Trick-Treat

The Benton Harbor City Commission last night approved the hours of 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. for trick or treating in the city on Halloween (Oct. 31). The commission also recommended that adults accompany their children and asked residents who want to participate to turn on their porch lights for children.

Threat Vanishes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of thousands of factory shutdowns this winter due to natural gas shortages apparently has vanished because of precautionary purchases of higher priced emergency gas, the federal Regulatory Commission says.

Two Hurt In M-139 Collision

Two young women were treated at Mercy Hospital and released Monday after autos they were driving were involved in a rear-end collision on M-139 near Nickerson Avenue, Benton Township police said.

Barbara Downing was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance after the Mahler auto was struck from behind while stalled in the roadway, according to Hansen.

Look Well Groomed

Clean, shiny hair is important in everyone's health and good looks. This is especially true during and immediately after pregnancy. The condition of hair is affected by chemical changes in the body at this time and increased perspiration and oil calls for more frequent shampooing, even every day, if necessary, suggests the Soap and Detergent Association.

To shampoo, lather well, rinse and lather again. Rinse thoroughly, until hair squeaks. Using a conditioner will close the hair shaft and provide smooth, full texture to hair as well as sheen.

It helps to have hair cut in an easy-care shape and keep it properly trimmed. Massaging the scalp is another aid in keeping hair roots healthy. Massaging also improves circulation, relieves tension, controls dryness and flakiness and helps an oily scalp function normally. Such treatments should be kept up following birth to stimulate circulation and encourage the growth of new hair.

TWIN CITIES SYMPHONY

Duo Pianists Open Season

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

An enchanting performance by duo pianists Patrice Sizer and Elizabeth Heinzen highlighted the first concert of the season for Twin Cities Symphony.

Performing Sunday in St. Joseph High School Auditorium, Mrs. Sizer and Mrs. Heinzen performed the beautiful Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra, Op. 88a, by Max Bruch.

The beauty of the work, the talent of the pianists and the magnificence of the orchestra under the direction of Robert Vodnoy created an emotional musical experience for the capacity audience.

The audience's respect and admiration was marked by the quiet attentiveness during the performance and the standing ovation at its conclusion.

Mrs. Sizer and Mrs. Heinzen are an exquisitely talented matched team. They are obviously dedicated to their art. Their timing as excellent in the intimate and dynamic dialogue between the two pianos.

They were at times, powerful and forceful with their performance exploding from the first notes with flawless technique. It is a joyous work and a joy to hear.

Though premiered in 1918 by Ottile and Rose Suro, the work was virtually unheard for 58 years. Bruch wrote the work in response to a request by the Suros. It was performed in 1917 for the last time until Nathan Twining and Martin Berkofsky performed the work in 1973 in London.

Twining had found the work among papers in the Suro estate in 1971. Twining and Berkofsky reconstructed the work into the original four movements which Mrs. Sizer and Mrs. Heinzen performed.

According to William Davis of the Symphony board of directors, the performance here Sunday was the first to be performed outside of the East Coast area of the United States. Twining and Berkofsky have split up as a team and Berkofsky has a new partner and is performing the work on the East Coast and in Europe.

Robert Vodnoy, who is beginning his third year with the symphony as conductor and music director, superbly led the orchestra throughout the concert.

In the little more than two years that Vodnoy has led the orchestra, it has grown and matured from a community orchestra into a viable, musically respected symphony.

The orchestra performed with feeling, Beethoven's Overture to Fidelio — with buoyancy of spirit, the joyful Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 4 in A Major, Op. 90, The Italian — and with virtuosity, the glorious Prelude to Die Meistersing von Nurnberg by Wagner.

The concert drew praises

On Radio

A taped broadcast of the first concert of the season by the Twin Cities Symphony will be played over radio station WAUS-FM (90.9) Thursday, Oct. 20, at 7 p.m.

From concertgoers. Prize-winning pianist Debra Korrell, who teaches piano locally, said, "I've been away for two years and I haven't been able to hear the symphony in the time I've been away. It has improved so much and it really is exciting to hear the improvement."

"The concerto (by Mrs. Sizer and Mrs. Heinzen) was really beautiful and they did a fine job on it. We are fortunate in this area to have a duo piano team that can perform for us because it is something you don't get to see or hear very often. They were very much together and work well as a team."

Barbara Sickert, also a local pianist and piano teacher, said of the duo, "They were very well prepared and the work beautifully done. The pianists with the orchestra were very good and I could hear the pianos very well."

She also said, "The Mendelssohn and the Wagner works, were superb. I thought the orchestra was in great shape for these works. In the Italian, the brass and wind sections were excellent and the blends superb. The performers improve each year and you can hear it."

Mrs. Harold W. Fowler, a past president of the symphony board and member of the board since its inception, complemented the orchestra for its support of the duo pianists and added, "The overall thing I came away was the tremendous beauty of this whole program from beginning to end. All the members of the orchestra are artists." She also said, she was impressed by the togetherness of all who participated.

She said, "When we first started 25 years ago, I never dreamed this would happen."

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Mrs. Mabel Ferris and Frank Olmstead, members of Berrien Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church, are celebrating their birthdays today. Mrs. Ferris is 80, and Olmstead 84.

Mrs. Ferris maintains her own home at Leisure Living trailer court in Berrien Springs. She has three sons, Louis of Chicago, Vern of Berrien Springs and Curtis at Rochester; a daughter, Mrs. Beulah Lee of California; eight grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

Still a licensed driver, Mrs. Ferris says she does not plan to leave the driver's seat "as long as I can pass the test." She does her own housework, enjoys "lots of reading" and does volunteer work one day a week at the Seventh-day Adventist Community Services Center in Berrien Springs.

Mrs. Ferris was born Oct. 18,

1887, to Mary and Luther Logan in Blufford, Ill. Blufford was a small town, but the trains stopped there, and Mrs. Ferris remembers the day President Theodore Roosevelt came out onto the rear platform to wave at the townspeople.

On June 22, 1907, she married Elwood Ferris, and "the next morning we went out selling books for the church," Mrs. Ferris said. Her husband became a minister and the couple moved frequently, finally settling in Berrien Springs, where Elder Ferris died in 1960, at the age of 80.

Frank Olmstead, born Oct. 18, 1887, was the son of Mary and Levant Olmstead, of Cory, Pa. His parents moved to Cedar Lake, Mich., when Olmstead was in his mid-teens.

In 1913, at the age of 26, Olmstead married Rachel James, then 18, and settled down to farming. He does not remember the name of the first president he voted for, but is sure it was a Republican.

Olmstead, a resident of the Paul Stephan Nursing Home, Niles, has one daughter, Mrs. Leva Dunham of Niles, and a grandson, Mrs. Olmstead died in 1960 at the age of 75.

Asked how he attained the age of 91, Olmstead replied, "I just lived that long."

Both Olmstead and Mrs. Ferris are life-long vegetarians who neither smoke or drink. They recommend that lifestyle to anyone hoping for a long life.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Guard Against 'Silent Killer'

Dear Readers: It's time we had some good news for a change and I am happy to print it. According to the figures published by the National Center for Health Statistics, the United States death rate in 1976 for the second year in a row was the lowest in our history. This figure reflects the lowest overall health rate from all causes.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, president of Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, said this great achievement is the direct result of an extremely well-run public education campaign, alerting both the layman and physicians to the dangers of high blood pressure—a leading cause of heart attacks and stroke.

So, again, I am reminding all my readers—as I did two years ago—to get your blood pressure checked. Hypertension (high blood pressure) is a silent killer. There are virtually no symptoms and half the people who have it don't know it. If it turns out that your blood pressure is higher than it should be, don't get panicky. Hypertension can be controlled by medication and diet.

Dr. DeBakey and Dr. Antonio Gutto have written a superb book, "The Living Heart," which will help you understand the function and value of your heart and may well add years to your life. The price is $14.95, and it's worth it.

Dear Ann Landers: This may not seem like much of a nuisance to you but it's a big one to me. Our problem is the postman. He sweats on the mail.

Ours is the last house on the route and by the time he gets to us the ink on the letters is smeared and some of the magazines are so soggy they have to be hung up and dried out.

I have never said more than "good morning" to the man in my life, so please don't suggest that I have a chat with him. I just couldn't. If you print this letter I will see that he gets it somehow. Please? Thank you.

—Queasy In Oregon

Dear Queasy: The postman has a bigger problem than you. It's called hyperhidrosis—excessive sweating. If it's so bad that he soaks the mail, he must be plenty miserable. This man should see a dermatologist about preparing a special antiperspirant for his hands if the commercial products don't work. He can be helped if he gets a doctor who has the pa-

Run, Kid
Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old boy whose life is being ruined by a spoiled brat. She is my nine-year-old sister.

She has a terrible temper and attacks me like an animal. If I hit her I get crucified, so all I can do is hold her wrists when she leaps at me. This makes her furious and she screams bloody murder. Then I am punished for "annoying my little sister." What can I do?—Tortured In N.Y.

Dear Tort: A 14-year-old boy is bigger and stronger than a nine-year-old girl. When she pounces on you, untangle yourself, get away from her, go into another room and lock the door.

What are the do's and don'ts of teaching your child about the birds and the bees? Let Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex," give you the ground rules. For your copy send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Ann Landers Offers Guidelines For Parents

"One of the surest ways to produce loafers and freeloaders is to let children know that their future is assured," says Ann Landers in a Nov. 15 Family Circle article that discusses not only what parents actually owe their children, but what they do not owe them.

And "an inheritance," says Mrs. Landers, whose column appears daily in The Herald-Palladium, is definitely not something you owe your children.

Mrs. Landers suggests that all those "guilt-ridden" parents who write her saying that "no matter what they do, it isn't enough," stop trying to buy love. "When you try to buy it," she writes, "the price goes up," and emotional blackmail is highly profitable for the seller, especially when the buyer is loaded with guilt. Instead, the columnist recommends that parents "get back to the traditional values and hang together... or they will hang separately."

Traditional values for Ann Landers do not include a trip to Europe after graduation, a down-payment on a married child's home or even a college education. These are not, she says, the things you owe a child.

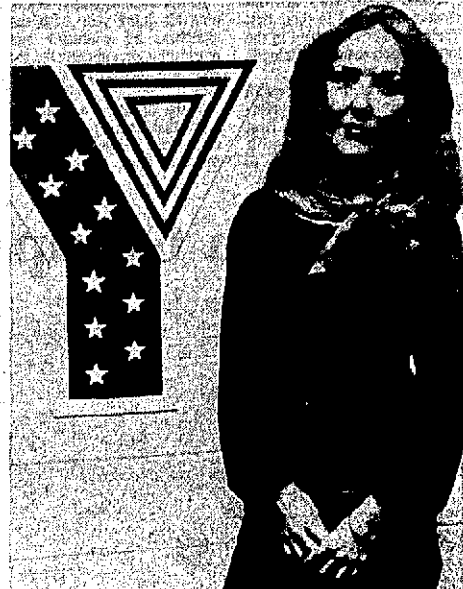

"What you do owe them is 'a sense of personal worth,'" Children, says Mrs. Landers, "should be corrected and set straight... but criticism should be heavily outweighed by praise." For those who find it difficult to praise verbally—"My own dear mother was like that but Porcia made up for it," recounts the columnist—try a "smile or a caress."

Parents also owe a child consistent discipline and firm guidelines. "The parent who has the courage to say 'no' when other parents are saying 'yes,'" writes Mrs. Landers, "sends out a double message. He is also saying, 'I love you.'"

According to the columnist, children also have a right to privacy and respect for their personal belongings. When a mother has to "read" a daughter's diary to find out what's going on, the lines of communication, she contends, "are pretty bad."

Most importantly, Ann Landers feels that parents owe their children a set of standards and values that can be taught by example. As she says in the article, "A youngster who hears no laughter and sees no love in the home will have a difficult time laughing and loving."

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Only one player opened the South hand. Normally, you don't expect to get a zero score because you make that poor opening. But South got into when he compounded his error by not redoubling for rescue after East converted his partner's takeout double to penalty by passing. Maybe the redouble would have just taken him from the frying pan into the fire—maybe it would have gotten him off the hook. We'll never know.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—For 26 years my husband has told me girdles do absolutely nothing for the figure. The body should be free of any binding garments. I thought they would help support stomach muscles. Do girdles do more harm than good? I'd appreciate a reply to settle this argument between us.

Also, for firming chest muscles my husband says taking deep breaths in as far as possible will do it. I say pushing the hands together in front of the chest is more effective. Which is right?

I need to lose about 10 pounds but am really more interested in firming up. I have loose skin around my abdomen. I am 47, weigh 155 and am 5 feet 9. I have been doing exercises for the abdomen, letting the legs come down slowly while lying on my back. While I am still lying down I raise up to touch my toes without bending my knees. Can I actually firm this pad of loose fat if I continue? Will diet help?

DEAR READER—You won't like my answer. You can hide a certain amount of flab and fat with a girdle but when it comes off the truth comes out.

Anything that replaces the work of muscle will weaken it. That's why leg muscles will shrink and weaken while a leg is in a cast. If you want to firm up your abdominal muscles you need to develop a conscious effort to keep your abdomen a little firmer and develop good posture. Abdominal exercises help to keep the muscles firm. The ones you are doing are fine for that. Consciously keep your stomach muscles taut while doing them for better effect.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 3-7, Girth Control: Avoiding The Big Middle, to give you more details on exercise and a word about dieting. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Yes, the diet is im-

Welfare Cheaters Hunt Called Privacy Violation

By MICHAEL PUTZEL Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who headed a federal commission on privacy says the government's plan to ferret out welfare cheaters would infringe on Americans' right to privacy. "Welfare cheats can and must be identified and removed," David F. Linowes told the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Monday. But Linowes called the planned computer search "an abuse of personal privacy rights."

HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., speaking last week to a closed meeting of executives of some of the nation's largest businesses, proposed making computer tapes of welfare rolls available to private employers.

As part of Operation Match, HEW's campaign to hunt down cases of cheating and fraud, the welfare rolls would be compared against payroll tapes.

"We would provide the welfare tapes and run them against names of employees to preserve the right of privacy and turn in names where they are found to match," Califano explained to reporters after last week's meeting.

Linowes said he was "surprised that this kind of program could reach this stage with him personally presenting it this way."

"The biggest threat to privacy today is computer-to-computer linkage," he added in a telephone interview.

Linowes said Califano "is talking from a file-cabinet mentality. He thinks that if he transfers a computer tape he's protecting somebody's privacy. He thinks that a tape is a safeguard. This is terribly uninformed."

Califano, in a statement Monday, said the program, which would be conducted by the states, would "respect the rights of employees, welfare recipients and the American people."

Linowes said computer tapes provide anyone with a computer terminal "instant access to all sorts of private information."

The commission proposed that Congress prohibit "disclosure of records about a public assistance or social services client ... without the authorization of the client."

The commission's final report, presented to President Carter in July, specifically mentioned welfare recipients because they are required to give the government sensitive personal information to qualify for assistance, Linowes said.

"I'm strongly sympathetic with what he's trying to do (to attack welfare fraud and abuse), but this is just the reverse of everything the administration should be doing," Linowes, a professor at the University of Illinois, said.

Linowes said the President told all Cabinet members to find ways to implement the commission's goals.

Califano said details of his proposal still need to be worked out but that two of the executives who indicated they may cooperate with the program were Frank T. Cary, chairman of IBM, and John D. DeButts, chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph.

Commercial Lake Fishing Dead?

By JAMES H. PHILLIPS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's doubtful the Great Lakes commercial fishing industry will ever regain more than "a mere shadow" of its former prominence, a government report concludes.

The commercial fishing industry has declined by 83 percent since 1930, mostly because of overfishing, fish predators and pollution, the General Accounting Office said Monday.

"There is little chance the number of Great Lakes commercial fishermen or the commercial catch will increase," concluded the GAO, an investigative arm of Congress.

One of the biggest drawbacks to a revival of the commercial fishing industry is politics, the GAO said. "All eight Great Lakes states favor recreational fishing over commercial fishing and have established regulations restricting or prohibiting the commercial catch of certain high-value species desired by recreational fishermen."

The GAO report noted that until the late 1960s Great Lakes fish were harvested predominantly by commercial fishermen. But with the planting of coho and chinook salmon, "recreational fishing became a multimillion-dollar business and is expected to continue to increase."

In addition, some species of fish have been found contaminated with pesticides and other pollutants, forcing some areas to be closed to commercial fishing. "Adverse media publicity has tarnished the image of the Great Lakes as a producer of wholesome fish products," the GAO added.

Commercial fishermen were partly responsible for the decline, the GAO said, because they depleted stocks of some valuable fish such as lake trout by overfishing.

In addition, the invasion of the sea lamprey, a predator which feeds on other fish, further diminished the schools of some highly desirable species.

Although efforts to control the sea lamprey have been largely successful, the stocking of hatchery-raised fish has not been totally successful.

"These fish have not reproduced as much as expected," the GAO said.

The report noted that in 1940 there were 5,284 full-time and 1,617 part-time commercial fishermen on the Great Lakes. But in 1975 there were only 137 full-time and 1,043 part-time commercial fishermen, it added.

Bacon Chemical Ban Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government says it intends to ban the chemical used to cure bacon, ham and luncheon meats unless manufacturers can prove the substance doesn't cause cancer.

The Agriculture Department is ordering manufacturers to test the preservative, sodium nitrite, to see whether it acts with other substances to form a cancer-causing agent, nitrosamine.

Animal tests have shown that some nitrosamines are among the most potent agents causing liver and other cancers, said Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant agriculture secretary.

"I don't think it is an imminent health hazard," Ms. Foreman said in a telephone interview. "If we did, we would act immediately. But there is cause for concern."

The department will initially concentrate on bacon manufacturers, who make the widest use of sodium nitrite, said Ms. Foreman, who prefers that designation.

A department notice in today's Federal Register gives the bacon industry until Jan. 18 to produce the test results. Some authorities say that frying bacon with high heat as well as the normal digestive process can cause nitrosamine formation.

YACHT INTERCEPTED AT SEA

Viets Detain Three Yanks

By H. JOSEF HEBERT Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is asking the Vietnamese government to clarify circumstances surrounding the detention of three Americans whose yacht was intercepted in the South China Sea last week.

The Vietnamese informed U.S. officials Monday that it has detained the three Americans after the yacht Brillig was towed to Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, last Saturday.

"They (the Vietnamese) said the three crew members are well and that the Vietnamese government is continuing its investigation," a State Department spokesman said.

He said the Vietnamese government claims the yacht, boarded Wednesday, was in Vietnamese waters. Sources in Bangkok, Thailand, said the Americans claimed in their last message that they were 35 miles from the Vietnamese shore.

The 39-foot Brillig was enroute from Thailand to Brunei and Singapore when its crew sent a distress signal that a boat had opened fire and the yacht was "about to be rammed."

Aboard the yacht was the owner, Cornelia M. Dellenbaugh, a former Peace Corps worker whose parents live in Vero Beach, Fla.; Leland Dickerman of Flagstaff, Ariz.; and Charles Ajfel of Philadelphia. Miss Dellenbaugh's hometown was not known.

The State Department said Monday night that the United States would press for the Americans' release and ask the Vietnamese for "prompt clarification of the circumstances of the apprehension and detention of the Brillig and her crew."

For four days after the Brillig was seized last Thursday, the Vietnamese government remained silent about the matter.

But on Monday the Vietnamese told U.S. officials through respective embassies in Paris that the vessel had been intercepted near the island of Hon Kham off the southern coast of Vietnam and ordered towed to shore, arriving Saturday.

Since Cambodian troops seized the cargo ship Mayaguez in 1975, vessels have been warned regularly to stay more than 35 nautical miles off the coast of Cambodia and 20 miles off the coast of Vietnam.

KLANS PLANS PATROL

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The national director of the Ku Klux Klan says Klan members plan a border patrol to help curb the illegal alien problem. David Duke, 37, of Metairie, La., was confronted by demonstrators who threw eggs during his tour here Sunday.

ROOM FOR TWO? — Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau appears to be asking for umbrella space from Queen Elizabeth during Parliament Hill church services in Toronto Sunday, at which thousands turned out despite bad weather. In a speech Sunday night, the queen appealed to Canadians for unity. She'll deliver Canadian version of U.S. State of the Union address to Canadians today. (CP Wirephoto)

ABDOMINAL PAIN IN CHILDREN

Abdominal conditions of some urgency in children are most usually found in the lower part of the abdomen. Appendicitis is characterized by pain in the lower right side and pain on either side can be an obstruction due to one part of the bowel lapping over another. With an obstruction there is usually blood and mucus in the stool.

It is not safe to assume that an abdominal pain is due to a virus just because you have heard a virus is "going around". Often a suspected stomach virus can turn out to be appendicitis.

Crackdown May Hike Trash Bill

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Your garbage bills will go up if trash trucks lose their traditional freedom from Michigan's weight restrictions, trash haulers say.

They claim recent actions of the Muskegon County Road Commission mean state weight restrictions could be enforced on their trucks. If that happens, trash haulers say it will cost consumers money as trucks are converted or forced to carry smaller loads on each trip.

Two weeks ago, Frank Johnson, Muskegon County's weighmaster, ran a garbage packer over the scales and found it 8,800 pounds overweight. That cost Ted Stoerman, owner of Sanitary Garbage Service of Twin Lake, an $880 fine.

Stoerman protested it was the first time in 20 years one of his trucks had been weighed.

He and 14 other trash haulers hired a lawyer. The attorney, Denis Potuznik, said he may seek a temporary injunction blocking ticketing of overweight trucks while the commission studies the problem.

"This is really going to be big," Potuznik said. "I've been getting calls from haulers in Lansing, Detroit, all over the state. They're all worried it's going to happen to them. There isn't a county in the state that's enforcing the law as far as I know."

But Jack Chaviez, secretary-manager for the Muskegon County Road Commission, said that body believes if other trucks must abide by weight limits, so should garbage trucks.

Potuznik agreed the law must be obeyed. "But why didn't they start enforcing it four or five years ago before these guys bought bigger trucks?"

Traditionally, garbage trucks have been charged by the truckload rather than by weight when they dumped their cargo. The trucks have grown in recent years and most are equipped with compactors, making it possible to pack in more trash.

The result is that many trash trucks now exceed the state's limit of 18,000 pounds on each axle.

If the law remains unchanged, trash haulers said they face the choice of adding axles to their trucks or carrying smaller loads.

Car Winds Up In Living Room

CLAWSON, Mich. (AP) — Bernard McGartland was just trying to park his car, but when he opened the door and stepped out he found himself in the middle of his neighbor's living room.

Police said McGartland was trying to park at his home in this Detroit suburb when his right foot got jammed between the brake and accelerator pedals.

The car shut out of his driveway, veered across the street and smashed through the picture window into a house owned by Dr. and Mrs. Paul Irey.

The Ireys, who were just driving away from their house, glanced in the rear view mirror and watched in horror as McGartland crashed into their home Sunday night.

McGartland got back into his car, threw it into reverse and backed out of the house, leaving the living room in wreckage, police said.

Grenade Blast Rips Automobile

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Police today puzzled over the second explosion of a hand grenade in six weeks at the home of a Southfield attorney, who can offer no explanation for the incidents.

The second grenade exploded before dawn Monday under a car parked in the driveway of attorney Henry J. Muller Jr. In a similar incident Sept. 7, a grenade was rolled under Muller's 1973 Lincoln Continental, damaging the outside of the house.

The latest incident involved a Gremlin belonging to Muller's daughter, Anna Wagner, who is living with her parents. The car was destroyed.

Muller told investigators he had no idea why anyone would want to attack him or his family. He said that after the bombings he received phone calls from a man who made vague threats.

Tax Interest Rate Reduced

The new figure reflects changes in the prime lending rate of banks over the last year, the IRS said Monday.

House OKs $1.5 Million For Another PBB Study

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state will pump another $1.5 million into a new study to determine the effects of PBB on Michigan's population if the Senate goes along with House action.

The state House Monday passed 83-4 a measure appropriating the money for a New York medical team's study of a cross section of the state's population.

The tests would be conducted by a team of scientists from the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine Environmental Sciences Laboratory headed by Dr. Irving Selikoff.

Selikoff was leader of a survey last fall of 1,029 Michigan farm family members. The study's early findings indicate farmers who ate food contaminated with the fire retardant suffered a number of ailments, including a loss of their body's ability to fight infection.

The federal government is expected to help pay for the new study, part of which will be conducted by the University of Michigan School of Public Health and the school's survey research center.

Although Monday's House action came without debate, it follows months of criticism by Democratic leaders, who have accused Gov. William Milliken's administration of dragging its feet ever since the contamination was uncovered more than three years ago.

Milliken and other state officials have countered that they did their best with the limited information available to handle what has since become known as the nation's biggest animal poisoning incident.

Milliken announced the testing program in August after Selikoff recommended it to the legislature. The governor also told the state Department of Public Health to include non-farm residents in the new tests, although department officials earlier had said they did not plan to test the general population.

The state has signed a contract with the University of Iowa to set up a control group of farm families in that state whose health will be compared with that of their Michigan counterparts. The Iowans were selected because their state's agricultural system is similar to Michigan's, and because they are far enough away that they should have no exposure to PBB.

PBB, or polybrominated biphenyl, was mixed accidentally with Michigan livestock feed in 1973. Thousands of contaminated farm animals and food products were destroyed.

House OKs Anti-Obscenity Bill

By ROBERT WILSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A first step toward a statewide obscenity ban comes up for Senate consideration in the form of a measure banning distribution or display of such material to minors.

The bill was approved by the House Monday on an 87-4 vote without discussion, despite predictions it would be hotly debated.

Under the bill, materials deemed to be sexually explicit could not be distributed to persons under the age of 18. The bill would apply to both verbal and visual material, including all printed matter, sound recordings, drawings, sculptures and films.

It would not apply to parents or guardians providing sexually explicit materials to their children, or to persons distributing the materials for legitimate scientific, educational, artistic or scientific value. Violators would be guilty of a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of two years in jail, a $10,000 fine, or both. The Michigan Supreme Court ruled two weeks ago that the legislature has the sole authority to set standards and punishment for the production and distribution of obscene materials.

In doing so, the high court stripped local communities of powers to enact measures which conflict with state law or deal with the same problem.

The court two years ago said Michigan's current anti-pornography law is too vague, and urged lawmakers to enact a statewide obscenity standard detailing specifically what is illegal.

The American Civil Liberties Union, among others, opposes the bill on the ground that it denies a person First Amendment rights under the constitution. Others say such a bill is not needed because the movie rating system excludes minors from viewing explicit films.

Porn Zoning Struck Down

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A Ferndale zoning ordinance aimed at X-rated theaters and book stores has been thrown out by an Oakland County Circuit Court judge.

The lawyer for the theater that challenged the ordinance says the ruling jeopardizes anti-pornography ordinances in cities across Michigan.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Steven Andrews said Monday the ordinance was so tough that it in effect barred all businesses dealing in X-rated materials from operating in Ferndale. Andrews said if Ferndale is going to use zoning to control such businesses, it must leave them some zones in which to operate. Ferndale city attorney Bob Turner said he would ask the city council for permission to appeal the ruling in the Michigan Court of Appeals. Ferndale copies a Detroit ordinance that bans businesses dealing in X-rated materials from operating within 1,000 feet of each other or closer than 500 feet to a residential zone. The ordinance has been upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ferndale's ordinance said the businesses must be 2,000 feet apart and 1,000 feet from a residential zone.

Jailhouse Houdini Behind Bars

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — Harold Hemminger is "the one that got away" — over and over again. He is back in jail after four years on the lam, awaiting trial on charges of escape, of course.

Harry's one of the best jailbreakers there ever was, said an officer assigned to keep him from slipping out of the courtroom in an appearance before Circuit Judge William Caisley.

It is hard to find a jailer or prisoner who won't smile when talking about Hemminger. He's never taken a hostage or harmed a guard during any of his escapes. "Hell," he said with a grin during an interview, "I ain't out to hurt anybody."

Hemminger, 36, was recaptured earlier this month in Viroqua, Wis., after spending four years "hunting and raising kids" when he was supposed to be in Pontiac Correctional Center in Illinois.

He escaped in 1973 after being sentenced a year earlier to a three-to-10-year term for burglary.

In 1971, Hemminger escaped from the maximum security facility at Waupun, Wis., where he also was serving a sentence for burglary.

It is hard to tell how many jails Hemminger has escaped from. A prison official says five, Hemminger says four. And the Vernon County, Wis., sheriff who arrested him said "jails all over the country" had reported him missing.

Jailed several times for non-violent crimes, Hemminger said he had never run away unless he found it "absolutely necessary."

He said he escaped once in Wisconsin out of hunger. "I mean, I got hungry, too," he said. "And that damned sheriff was a belly rubber."

Hemminger, who weighs about 150 pounds, said he had wasted away to 110 pounds in the jail. So he took down the ceiling light in his cell, knocked a hole in the ceiling and went to get something to eat. He never returned.

How about Leavenworth, Kan.?

"I was trapped," Hemminger said. "The courts should have let me go but they didn't. So it was necessary to leave."

That time Hemminger was put to work loading scraps of metal into barrels, which were then taken to a junkyard outside the prison walls. Hemminger squeezed into a barrel and was loaded onto the truck.

"I kicked the lid off and jumped off in downtown Leavenworth," he recalled.

When arrested most recently, Hemminger tried to escape by climbing onto the roof of his rural home, but there was nowhere to run. On the ground below him were about 80 coon dogs, which he had been training and hoped to sell, and the two children he said were born during his years as a fugitive.

The escapee said he had lived pretty casually. "I hunted every night ... after the first year," he said. "I figured they'd just stopped looking."

The reclaimed prisoner is scheduled back in court on Nov. 7. A correctional officer at Pontiac who knew him before his escape said: "He's a very good worker and doesn't cause a lot of ruckus."

Church Leaders Ban Sex Change

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma Southern Baptist leaders have banned sex change operations at the Baptist Medical Center here. Doctors who perform the operations sharply criticized the decision.

Dr. David William Foerster, a member of the surgical team that has performed more than 50 sex change operations at the Baptist hospital during the last four years, said the decision will cause the public to view the Baptist leaders "as being bigoted buffoons."

The Rev. Joe L. Ingram, executive director of the general convention, said the board's decision means they will not be resumed as long as the hospital belongs to Oklahoma Baptists.

EPA Accuses Firm

DETROIT (AP) — The federal Environmental Protection Agency is seeking a $90,000 penalty against a private detective agency in Farmington which allegedly used leaded gasoline in several cars designed for unleaded gas only.

EPA Attorney Bertram Frey said Monday the proposed penalty is the largest ever sought for a violation of federal unleaded gas regulations.

In a complaint filed with the company, the EPA's regional office in Chicago charged that Security Services Inc. filled 14 fleet cars with leaded gas between Oct. 5, 1976 and April 4, 1977.

Federal law prohibits the pouring of leaded gasoline into cars whose gas tanks are designed for unleaded gas use only. The use of leaded gas in such tanks can damage the catalytic converter, a device installed in cars to reduce pollution emissions.

SJ Township Board Cuts Back On New Permit Fees

The St. Joseph Township Board last night approved a revised fee schedule for various permits after criticism from Supervisor Orval Benson on the original proposal.

The fees, effective immediately, cover land splits, rezoning, special use permits, plat reviews, and the use of the board of appeals. Increases ranged from $10 in one category to $275 in another.

Benson criticized many of the fees as being excessive for services which the township should provide anyway.

"I can't see charging for doing a job we're elected to do," Benson said. "I can't see these kinds of costs for our people."

"It's no extra expense to us — it's just a ripoff."

After Benson's complaints, two of the proposed fees which would most affect individual landowners were lowered. The board voted unanimously to approve the entire revised fee schedule, with Benson abstaining.

The fees were drawn up by a committee which included Treasurer Robert DeVries and Trustees Carroll Gerbel and Ernest Knauf. Gerbel initially defended the original proposal, claiming: "The overall intent was not to charge the citizens exorbitantly but to cover the costs incurred."

DeVries said that people who obtain rezoning usually gain monetarily and added: "I feel these rates are justified, they won't cover all of our costs." Gerbel later made the motion to revise the original fees presented by the committee, and was supported by DeVries.

Benson noted money from the fees will go to the township's general fund.

Under the new schedule, a fee of $10 will be charged for requests for land splits or combining property for residential single-family parcels, and $100 for land other than single family. The committee's original proposal pegged the residential fee at $25.

The new cost for a plat review is $200, and a charge of $1 will be made for a rummage sale permit, contingent upon the adoption of a rummage sale ordinance.

Previously, there was no charge for any of those activities, Benson said. New fees for four other categories, which all carried a $25 fee before, include: Rezoning for residential property, $150, and rezoning for all other types of property, $300.

Special use permits, $300, except for special use permits for home occupation (such as a beauty shop in a person's home), $100.

Board of appeals, $10 per parcel for property zoned residential up to a maximum of $200, and a $200 fee for all other types of property.

The board said costs incurred in the latter four activities include attorney fees, postcard mailing to the residents in the surrounding area, publication of a legal notice, and a public hearing.

In other business last night, the board:

—Set Halloween trick-or-treat hours for 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Oct.

31. —Reminded the public that an open house for the new township hall, at 3800 Washington Ave., will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23.

—Authorized spending up to $1,000 to pave a small portion of road at the end of Manor Drive.

Cost Of Signs For New Hall Was $750

An extra digit caused some people to wonder if St. Joseph Township is spending $750,000 for signs at the new township hall on Washington Avenue. "We're spending $750 for five signs to mark entrances and parking," Township Manager Isadore DiMaggio said yesterday. DiMaggio said he had some inquiries after a legal notice in Saturday's Herald-Palladium read: "Motion approved to authorize Township Manager to purchase five outdoor signs for the new Township Hall at a cost of up to $750,000." The dollars were correctly separated from no cents by a period, but some got the impression it might have been $750,000, DiMaggio said.

LMC Seeking 'Hopes, Goals' Hiring System

BY RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The Lake Michigan College Board of Trustees last night voted unanimously to adopt an affirmative action personnel program that LMC Atty. Stephen Small said is based on "hopes and goals" for avoiding discrimination, rather than a set quota system in hiring.

Small, named LMC equal opportunity officer under the resolution, said specific goals and timetables to reach them would be reported at the November board session.

LMC President James Lehman said the board action will state formally what the college has practiced informally in past years in hiring and promoting members of minority groups. Board President Bernard Rude said he checked the term "affirmative action," and found it was coined in 1961 by then President John Kennedy.

Atty. Small said while the personnel program is to avoid discrimination in hiring and promotion practices, it is not similar to a question of student quotas, now being considered by the U.S. Supreme Court. Small indicated that the "hopes and goals" would become clear when the timetable for varied steps is formed.

In a report to the board on a Michigan Community College Association meeting in Petoskey last week, Lehman said elected trustees present voiced the need for federal revenue sharing funds to be distributed to community colleges, just as they are to other units of government.

Lehman noted that Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has issued an opinion that community colleges are not eligible for the funds.

In another report, Tony Swerbinsky, director of admissions at LMC, said his contacts with four-year educational institutions indicate that students transferring to them from LMC tend to drop in grade averages during an initial period of adjustment, but then do well.

Swerbinsky didn't report statistically, saying some four-year colleges and universities release specific information on transfer students while others do not.

Swerbinsky said most LMC transfers in past years were to Western Michigan University, but now larger numbers are going to other schools — Ferris State College, Grand Valley State College and Central Michigan University.

Trustee Howard Jablon said evidence indicates that "B to A students at Lake Michigan College tend to remain B to A students" after transferring.

In general business, the board accepted a federal grant of $65,339 for the health sciences department. The grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare is for personnel, equipment and renovations.

Ed Graff, a former assistant professor at Andrews University, now in his first semester as a mathematics instructor at LMC, was named an assistant professor at LMC by board action.

Pistol-Packing Bandit Holds Up Business In BH

A bandit armed with a gun escaped with over $500 cash in a Monday afternoon holdup at Peoples Coal and Oil Co., 155 Jinkley St., according to Benton Harbor police.

Patrolmen Jim Hartman and Delmar Lange reported a man entered the business at about 2:30 p.m. and inquired about a furnace purchase. The officers said the man was invited into the office of Peoples owner Gordon Hosbain, then pressed a handgun against Hosbain's back.

Hosbain told police he and an employee, Mrs. Marion Esalhorst, were ordered to get on the floor, while another employee, Gail Modigell, was told to open a cash drawer.

The bandit took $516 from the drawer and removed Hosbain's wallet containing $162 from his trouser pocket, and escaped after ordering Mrs. Modigell to join her co-workers on the floor, the officers said.

Hosbain, Mrs. Esalhorst and Mrs. Modigell told police the robber told them to remain on the floor for at least five minutes after his departure or they would be shot. Hartman and Lange reported.

Officers said none of the people in the store saw the direction or manner of the man's escape. Only a sketchy description of the bandit was obtained.

Woman In High Union Post

DETROIT (AP) — A veteran union official and mother of three becomes the highest ranking woman in the United Auto Workers this month when she assumes her new post as administrative assistant to UAW President Douglas Fraser. Fraser named Carolyn Forrest, a member of the union since 1957, as the first woman among his five administrative assistants. She starts the new job Oct. 31. A member of UAW Amalgamated Local 406 in Detroit, Mrs. Forrest has been an international representative on the staff of Region 1E and was the first woman in the union to be given a regional servicing assignment. Mrs. Forrest served eight years as financial secretary of her local. She also was a steward, chief steward and member of the shop committee of the local. Mrs. Forrest, a Tennessee native who has lived in Michigan since 1953, has lectured on labor-management relations and related subjects at universities and union seminars.

Uniform Pay For Judges?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A uniform pay system for judges across the state would be set up under a package of bills introduced by Sen. Anthony Derezinski, D-Muskegon. The package would require salaries for state judges to be set in relation to salaries paid to Michigan Supreme Court justices. Under the package, a Court of Appeals judge would make 96 per cent of the salary paid to a Supreme Court justice, a circuit court judge would receive 92 per cent and probate and district court judges would receive 83 per cent. "The compensation plan would end the current chaotic system of wage setting that has resulted in some lower court judges earning more money than justices of the Michigan Supreme Court," Derezinski said Monday.

Cambodians Flee To Vietnam

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — Some 60,000 Cambodians have been granted asylum in Vietnam in the past year and are living in desperate conditions on the outskirts of Saigon and in the provinces west of the former South Vietnamese capital, diplomatic sources in Hanoi say. Most of the refugees are said to have been small businessmen or employees of small businesses from towns whose entire populations were moved forcibly to the countryside after the Communist takeover in 1975. At least 16,000 of these refugees are trying to leave Vietnam and have asked for help from the U.N. office for refugees in Hanoi.

State Has The Power

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state has the authority to regulate real estate appraisals made by state savings and loan associations under certain conditions, says Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. Those appraisals, however, must be specific in nature, be directed toward eliminating discriminatory business practices such as redlining and must result in the determination of a property's fair market value, Kelley said. The attorney general's opinion noted that real estate appraisers are subject to the requirements of the real estate licensing law and that their appraisals of property secured by a loan is necessary for the loan's approval and amount. The opinion was in response to questions raised by Richard Francis, commissioner of the state Financial Institutions Bureau.

Fair Shake Sought For Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty women with doctorates in various sciences are meeting with government, business and academic leaders to find ways that women can get a fairer shake in science. In the so-called "enlightened" world of science, women make up less than 10 per cent of the work force and those with doctorate degrees get salaries 19 per cent below their male counterparts. Participants in the conference on women in scientific research, which began Monday, say that when all the reasons and excuses are analyzed, the bottom line of the equation reads sexual discrimination. The meeting, sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the National Science Foundation, hopes to assure that men and women get equal access to research and educational opportunities.

Dunes Use In Planning

The National Park Service wants the people of Michigan to get involved in charting the future use of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore on Lake Michigan. A park service team will conduct a nine-day tour of the dunes from Oct. 25 to Nov. 5 in a visit that includes two scheduled public meetings. The public hearings will be Nov. 1 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars post hall in Benton Harbor and Nov. 2 at the Glen Arbor Township hall in Leelanau County. Both meetings start at 7:30 p.m. Congress made the lakeshore part of the national park system in 1970 and a master plan was developed. The original plan needs updating, Merrill D. Beal, the regional director of the park service, announced.

MSU Enrolls 44,211

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fall term enrollment at Michigan State University has reached its second highest point in the school's 122 year history, according to university officials. And the figures show the women gaining on the men, as the ratio between the sexes continues to move closer. The number of students enrolled this fall was 44,211, an increase of 482 over the past year and second only to the fall of 1975 when 44,590 students enrolled for classes, MSU officials said Monday. The percentage of women was up by 2.6 per cent, to 20.885 compared to a 0.3 of a per cent decline in the number of men, to 23.346. Officials noted that university enrollment was 59 per cent men to 41 per cent women 10 years ago, standing now at 53 per cent men to 47 per cent women.

A Funny Thing Happened...

Bar The Bar

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta's American Legion Post 382, dedicated this weekend, will be the first of its kind in the country, officials say — it won't have a bar. "If anyone comes in looking for a bar or if they are intoxicated, we will ask them to leave. We will have a security patrol ... to make sure there is no drinking," said post senior vice commander Ralph Sexton. "You can drink and still be a member of our post, but no alcohol will be permitted at our functions or on the premises," he said. The post, officially formed over the weekend, is looking for a permanent building. They met at Legion Post 1 in downtown — where the bar was looked up. Post 382 is the brainchild of Larry Cogglin, a former state Legion commander who said he once had problems with alcohol and wants to help others.

Blue Ribbon For Spotted Skin

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dog show addicts, cat fanciers and equestrians take note, a new kind of animal is slithering into the limelight — snakes. And what's more, snake fanciers are perfectly serious about it. "We're trying hard to keep from looking like carnival people," said Mary Hart of Canby, whose 13-foot spotted Burmese Python took grand champion honors during the weekend at the Northeast Reptile Association's second annual snake, lizard and turtle show. Although you can't very well put a snake through its paces like a horse, or "stack" one like a dog, there are judging criteria. Judges Frank Slavens, a reptile keeper at the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle, and Richard Werner, a Portland veterinarian, ranked the coiling critters on disposition, general appearance, markings and showmanship of their owners. Grand Champion Moria, now a 4-year-old, is expected to reach about 25 feet at maturity. Miss Hart, 27, says the snake is easy to care for — it eats nine rats a month. "What's more, you can go away and leave them for a couple of weeks at a time and not worry."

Mice In The Motor

METZ, France (AP) — An insurance company has been ordered to pay a $1,200 claim for damage to a car caused by a mouse trapped in the car's engine. According to testimony, mice nesting under the car's hood became trapped by the fanbelt and damaged the auto's cooling system. The award covered the cost of repair work. The court said the award was justified because of a clause in the policy that said the company would cover "damage caused by impact with a fixed or moving body." The insurance company has appealed.

Body Is Identified As Illinois Sailor

State police from the Benton Harbor Post said today a body found Sunday morning washed ashore from Lake Michigan north of Union Pier has been identified as that of an Illinois man who fell off a sailboat off Chicago in early September.

State police identified the man as Andrew Edward Yender, 22, of Lisle, Ill., who they said fell overboard while sailing on the afternoon of Sept. 9. Positive identification of Yender's body was made by a brother-in-law, Richard Rossi, according to police.

Yender's decomposed body was found at 11:28 a.m. Sunday by two Chicago men walking on the beach off Berrien Street, police reported.

State police from New Buffalo said Sunday no ruling had been made on the cause of death but foul play was not suspected.

the demands of Japanese hijackers two weeks ago, said the West German action "showed how to prevent hijacking."

Eighty hostages arrived in Frankfurt today. The six others remained in Mogadishu, apparently because they were unable to travel, a Lufthansa spokesman said.

Most of the hostages were Germans, but two Americans were reported among them. They were Christine M. Santiago, 44, of Santee, Calif., and her 5-year-old son, Leo. Mrs. Santiago has a heart condition.

The surviving hijacker, the lone woman in the Arabic-speaking gang, remained in a Mogadishu hospital, officials said.

The identities and nationalities of the terrorists remained in doubt. But Somali Information Minister Abduqadir Sakul indicated that the three bodies were being sent to Germany.

The hijackers had demanded the release of 11 imprisoned West German terrorists and two Palestinians in Turkish jails, along with $15 million ransom.

The only hostage killed during the ordeal which began last Thursday was the chief pilot of the Lufthansa Boeing 747 jet, 37-year-old Juergen Schumann, whose body was put off the plane shortly after it landed in Mogadishu Sunday. Officials said he was shot Sunday while the plane sat at the airport in Aden, South Yemen, fifth of its six stops during its zigzag journey over Southern Europe and the Middle East to East Africa.

The raid, reminiscent of Israel's successful rescue at the Entebbe, Uganda, airport last year, was the first combat operation for the Border Guard Group 9 commando strike force, set up after the 1972 Munich Olympic massacre. Officials said the anti-terrorist specialists had rehearsed the attack well, practicing on an identical plane before being sent to Mogadishu.

The attack was made an hour before one of a series of deadlines set by the terrorists. The husband of one of the hostages said West German officials told him the hijackers had threatened to kill one hostage every five minutes after the deadline.

The 11 West German terrorists whose freedom the hijackers demanded were the same demanded by the West German terrorists of the Red Army Front who kidnapped industrialist Hanns Martin Schleyer on Sept. 5 in Cologne. The kidnappers had threatened to kill Schleyer last Sunday unless Bonn gave in to the air pirates.

The hijackers, armed with pistols and plastic explosives, seized control of the Majorelle-Frankfurt flight over the French Riviera and forced it to home, Cyprus, Bahrain, Dubai, Aden and finally Mogadishu.

Michigan Man Being Charged With Murder

WEST BRANCH, Mich. (AP) — James Anderson, 19, was being held without bond on a murder charge today in connection with the death of a man last seen alive two months ago.

Anderson, of Lupton, stood mute at arraignment Monday before District Court Judge Joel L. Mills. Mills set Oct. 21 for a preliminary examination.

Anderson was accused of killing Larry Paul Greer, whose body was found in the Haron National Forest late Friday. Authorities have not said how Greer died.

Firefighting

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — A new ship, the Phillips SS, is a firefighter with a pumping capability of 40,000 gallons of water a minute — the equivalent of about 150 firemen with hoses.

The vessel is longer than a city block, is 10 stories high, sleeps 140, contains an 18-bed hospital and has a landing pad large enough for a 26-passenger helicopter.

DOWNTOWN IMPROVEMENT PROJECT

Buchanan Okays Condemnation

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BUCHANAN — Condemnation proceedings that would permit construction to begin on the $295,000, first phase of a downtown improvement project were given the green light by the Buchanan City Commission Monday night.

The 3-1 vote authorized the legal action, "where necessary," or in instances where downtown property owners will not sign easements that would allow the business district project to begin. An identical measure failed to gain commission approval during a regular meeting last Tuesday. Tempers flared during the two-hour meeting, and several merchants look aim at City manager Robert Faulhaber. About 30 people attended the meeting in the small commission chambers, some standing in a hallway outside the room.

One downtown property owner, Dewey Mollberg, vowed not to sign the easements and had strong words for the city manager. "You're going to have to condemn our property... we won't sign a thing."

Mollberg and his brother, Lene, own two buildings on the north side of Front Street, where the city wants to begin the project soon.

Citing several run-ins with Faulhaber in the past, Mollberg said, "We're not against the city of Buchanan. But I am firmly against the city manager and if I could get my hands on him I'd twist his neck off."

Mayor Richard Gault said he found it "regrettable, downright awful," that personalities had entered into the discussion. "I understand Bob (Faulhaber) doesn't enjoy a great deal of popularity. Bob has Buchanan's best interests at heart."

Gault held out the possibility that agreements could be reached with at least some of the reluctant property owners before the legal action is initiated. He said the commission would agree to write into the easements several points sought by Keith Welsh, owner of the Stationery Center on Front Street and a candidate for the commission next month.

Wait up to two weeks before pressing the legal action. Gault and Commissioner Gene Wesner stressed the project is being initiated for the betterment of the community. "You people are interfering with progress," the mayor told the critics. He said those who protested they were not made fully aware of the plans did not avail themselves of well-publicized meetings in which they were explained.

Voting to initiate the legal action were Gault, Wesner and Mildred Anderson. Voting no was Reginald Bellaire. Commissioner Bennett Jensen was absent.

north side of Front, including improvements to the lot and opening a portion of McCoy's Creek.

The city is seeking both construction and permanent easements throughout the downtown area in order to complete the project. Easements for along the north side of Front touched off the controversy.

Faulhaber had said earlier that failure to obtain the easements might place the entire project in jeopardy. He said contractors bid on the work assuming at least part of it could be completed this fall before bad weather sets in.

Buchanan Board Rejects Bid On Lot Near School

BUCHANAN — A bid of $490 by Alfred Deeds Jr. for a 50 by 111-foot lot adjacent to Moccasin School was rejected Monday night by the Buchanan Board of

Woman Injured In Tumble

A rural Eau Claire woman was hospitalized Monday night after she fell out the door of a moving pickup truck, and her husband, who was driving, was arrested, according to Berrien Sheriff's deputies.

Reported in fair condition today at Berrien General Hospital, Berrien Center, was Ellen Bryant, 59. Deputy Dan Gustafson said Mrs. Bryant suffered a fractured left hip when she fell from the pickup truck about 6:20 p.m. on Dean's Hill Road in Berrien Township east of US-31-33.

Booked into the Berrien County Jail was James Bryant, 57. Officers said he was booked for investigation of charges of reckless driving, carrying open intoxicants in a motor vehicle and drunk and disorderly.

Officers said the Bryants listed their address as Route 1, Box 285, Hippis Hollow Road, Eau Claire.

Mrs. Bryant told deputies she was attempting to open a vent window but grabbed a door handle by mistake when the pickup suddenly swerved and she fell out.

Gustafson said witnesses told him the eastbound pickup truck swerved and forced two westbound cars off the pavement at about the same time the woman was thrown to the roadway. Gustafson said an open bottle of whiskey was seized.

Education.

Paul Montgomery, assistant superintendent, noted the bid was well below the $1,000 appraised value of the property. Although the lot has been up for sale for two months, Deeds' bid has been the only one received so far. The lot is adjacent to land owned by Deeds.

In other areas, the board set a list of priorities for goals and objectives in the coming school year. The top five in order included: re-evaluation of the entire K-12 program; contract negotiations; improving community awareness and communication; program planning and budget responsibility; and a review of hiring and evaluation practices.

The board also approved a 1977-78 budget of $3,282,638, a $214,938 increase over last year's actual expenditures.

A bid for fleet insurance by the Hanlin-Rifenberg Agency was conditionally accepted. The insurance company's bid, low among six submitted, was for $8,536, including a $100 deductible. The board said it would accept the bid if the deductible were raised to $500 and the insurance fell to $5,600 or less.

Superintendent Earl Hogan announced the district's enrollment for purposes of figuring state aid was 2,273.5 students, a drop of 63.5 students from last year.

Julie Chubb, a senior who has fulfilled her graduation requirements, was given permission to graduate in January instead of June.

The board also awarded special citations to Mrs. Margaret Henderson, who has taught in Buchanan since 1943, and to Dr. Russell Vastine, long-time school athletic physician.

A special executive session was scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday to discuss contract negotiations.

Cass Judge To Hear Niles Courthouse Suit

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A hearing on a suit by the City of Buchanan seeking to block construction of a proposed south county courthouse in Niles has been set for Wednesday in Berrien Circuit Court. Lloyd Both, circuit court administrator, said Cass Circuit Judge James E. Hoff will preside at the hearing, scheduled for 2 p.m. Berrien's circuit judges disqualified themselves from hearing the case because the county board of commissioners and district judges were named defendants. The hearing was to have been held yesterday.

During the hearing, the defendants will be required to show cause why an injunction should not be issued stopping the building from being constructed in Niles. The city's suit also asks for a judgment that Buchanan is entitled to the services of a full-time district court. District courts are currently located in Niles and St. Joseph. The suit, filed Oct. 6, centers on the location of just the court part of the proposed office building but could change the county plans for the entire structure.

The suit stems from action by the county board last May when, despite protests from Buchanan, commissioners voted to accept an offer from Niles for a free parcel of land as the site for the courthouse. The proposed structure would be built with a $1.16 million federal grant, but that grant is presently tied up in other litigation in Federal District Court.

The battle in federal court is over how the U.S. Economic Development Administration will split a total of $2.77 million in public works money in the county.

Seeking to obtain the $1.16 million originally allocated, the county board of commissioners is appealing a ruling by District Judge Noel Fox calling for redistribution of the money. Other principals in the fight are Benton Harbor Area Schools, City of Benton Harbor and Benton Township.

$3 MILLION PROJECT: Site plan for proposed $3 million riverfront condominium project at South Haven is shown in architect's sketch. South Haven City Council Monday night approved zoning change that clears way for project. Project on seven-acre tract on city's north side overlooks Black River by city-owned boat launching ramps and park. Project will eventually feature 10 units, three stories high. Both one- and two-bedroom condominiums will be offered. Oak Street is on project's north border and Wells Street is shown at lower left of sketch.

South Haven Riverfront Condominiums Approved

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposed, $3 million riverfront condominium project that would ultimately have 60 units received approval from the South Haven City Council Monday night.

Approval came in the form of a change in zoning from multiple-family and one-family residential to a planned development district.

A corporation, comprised of South Haven and Kalamazoo businessmen, known as Waves and Caves, Inc., has proposed to develop the seven-acre tract which is on the city's north side and overlooks the city-owned boating-launching ramps and park.

Jay DeBruyn, one of the partners in the corporation, explained that the one- and two-bedroom condominiums will be

South Haven Students To Leave Early For Game

SOUTH HAVEN — Public school students here will be dismissed from classes early Friday to allow those who wish to travel to Midland for the high school team's football game that night. Superintendent Harold Gunder announced today.

The undefeated South Haven team will play Midland Dow, in a game of enrollment, South Haven is a Class B school, Midland Dow, Class A.

Classes will be dismissed as follows: Senior high, 2 p.m.; junior high, 1:46 p.m.; and elementary, 2:40 p.m. He dismissals are approximately 45 minutes earlier than normal.

built in 10 units that are to be three stories high.

DeBruyn said that 18 units would be constructed in the first phase, beginning next spring. He said site development would begin this fall. This includes a 450-foot-long dock along the Black River. The units will sell for $35,000 to $40,000. The initial construction phase will cost approximately $750,000, according to DeBruyn.

It will be the second condominium project for South Haven. The first occupants of The Harbours condominium project which is located near the city-owned north beach are scheduled to begin moving into their units this month, according to DeBruyn who is also one of three partners involved in it. That project developer is Harbours Ltd. of South Haven.

Other members of Waves and Caves, Inc., include Robert Hoffman Jr. of South Haven; Michael Wendling, Donald DuCharme, and Fred Einspahr, all of Kalamazoo; and Thomas Muehl of Portage.

In other matters, the council approved its general insurance package for a premium nearly three times the amount budgeted.

City Manager Paul Sharon said the $118,946 bid of the Hartford Insurance Co. was the only proposal received from 27 firms invited to bid. Last year the city's insurance package cost $42,000.

The council, by a 4-2 vote, approved the low $40,000 bid of Speidel Foundation and Marine of Benton Harbor to demolish the old power plant near the city's south beach. Acceptance of the bid ends a debate of nearly a decade over what to do with the power plant which has been idle since the mid-60s when the city decided to purchase power wholesale from the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

In favor of demolition were Mayor Richard Lewis and Aldermen Robert Warren, Norvan Books and Joseph Seiler. Opposed were Matthew Goerg and Wilbur Ingraham.

First Ward Alderman Ronald Kozlik was absent from the meeting. He recently was discharged from South Haven Community Hospital where he underwent treatment for stomach ulcers.

Goerg and Ingraham argued that removal of the building was too costly a proposition. Ingraham said removal of the structure would create a need to construct a utility building elsewhere for the storage of items such as picnic tables and Christmas decorations.

The council tabled indefinitely a proposal to change an ordinance that would have prohibited overnight parking at the city-owned boating launching facility. Proponents of the amendment claimed that motor home owners were staying for extended periods instead of going to area campgrounds.

Goerg cast the dissenting vote in a 5-1 council decision to table. The council set the official trick-or-treat hours in the city for 6 to 8 p.m. on Oct. 31. A citywide canvass for UNICEF on Oct. 31 from 2:30 to 6 p.m. was approved.

The Girl Scouts were given permission to sell cookies and calendars on Nov. 4-5 and Jan. 27-28.

The council commended the South Haven Fire Department for its Fire Prevention Week program. An open house at the fire station attracted 1,600 people while 1,200 school children became junior fire marshals by circulating home fire inspections.

The low, $8,600 bid of Don Woodlums, Inc., of South Haven for two police patrol cars was approved.

The council noted that the city is having difficulty in getting contractors to bid on rehabilitation work through its federal community development program.

The council noted a recommendation from the planning commission that a request from the Burger Chef restaurant to have a lot at 328 Pei street rezoned from multi-family residential to business be denied.

Sharon asked residents not to rake leaves into street gutters. He said that when a majority of leaves have fallen the city will pick them up.

Galien School Voters Reject Repairs Levy

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

GALIEN — The proposed renewal of a 1.7-mill property tax levy for two years to finance school building repairs was defeated Monday by Galien School District voters.

According to unofficial returns, the renewal was defeated by a 267 to 225 margin, school officials said.

The turnout for the special election represented about 41 percent of the district's 1,200 registered voters.

The same renewal proposal was defeated in June by a 257-226 margin.

The school district had levied the 1.7 mills for the past two years and had used the funds from the levy to make building repairs.

If it been approved, the levy would have raised about $50,000 yearly in combined state and local funds for repairs to the elementary school roof and for heating controls, replacement of ceilings in the halls and the gym and renovation of restroom and shower facilities, all at the high school.

Defeat of the proposal leaves the school district's total tax levy at 25.778 mills, 3.1 mills less than levied in 1976-77.

The reduction includes the loss of the 1.7 mill renewal and the reduction of the debt retirement levy by 1.4 mills, from 1.8 mills to four-tenths of a mill.

"It's just very unfortunate that the large majority of our voters did not come to the polls to express their opinions," said Superintendent Dr. Robert C. Thumann. "All 1,200 voters in our district must now live with the desires of 267 citizens. Unfortunately, the greatly needed repairs must be postponed indefinitely or until another new source of funds can be found."

One of the bills, SB-31, applies to people under 18 and makes it illegal for them to purchase, transport or drink alcoholic beverages. The other, SB-32, applies to everyone, and makes it illegal to sell or furnish alcohol to anyone under 19.

Two other proposals that would raise the drinking age to 21 are still in their originating committees, the service bureau spokesman said.

Earlier in the meeting, Gast discussed problems he said are plaguing Michigan businesses and contributing to the nation's economic problems.

He said the state's workers' and unemployment compensation programs are major factors in Michigan industries being priced out of the world market.

As an example, he said pelletized iron ore costs $14.70 a ton at the dock in the Upper Peninsula. The same product costs $1.71 a ton at the dock in Brazil and $3.32 a ton at the dock in Argentina, Gast said.

Michigan iron mines are paying $18 to $20 in workers' and unemployment compensation premiums for every $100 in wages, Gast said. The logging industry pays $33 in premiums for every $100 in wages, he added.

Gast said "there is no doubt" that if fraud and abuse were removed from the system, there would be plenty of money to increase benefit payments and still reduce premiums paid by business and industry.

He said unemployment benefits were never meant to compensate people who retire or voluntarily quit.

State Rep. Harry Gast Jr. (R-St. Joseph) said Monday he is opposed to bills in the Michigan Legislature that would raise the legal drinking age in Michigan from 18.

Gast said he feels there should be one age of majority in Michigan at which a person receives all adult privileges including the right to drink.

"I don't see how a person can be half adult and half juvenile," Gast told members of the Twin Cities Rotary Club. He was guest speaker at the club's luncheon meeting held at the Elk's Lodge in St. Joseph.

Gast said that if a person is old enough to sue and be sued and vote at 18, he should also have the right to buy a six-pack.

Gast's remarks were made off the cuff in response to an audience question.

"I realize there's a lot of people in the 43rd District who think differently," he said. The district covers 15 townships in the southwestern portion of Berrien County and includes the Cities of St. Joseph, New Buffalo, Buchanan and a portion of Niles.

Gast predicted the legislature will raise the age to 19 and not 21 as has also been proposed.

A spokesman for the Legislative Service Bureau in Lansing said yesterday a pair of bills that would raise to 19 the age a person could buy, possess and consume alcoholic beverages have passed the Senate and have been sent to the House Committee on Civil Rights.

Bad Billy Good Bet To Remain As NY Manager

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Win, lose or draw in the World Series, the best bet of the century is that feisty Billy Martin — dire forebodings to the contrary — is going to keep his job as skipper of the New York Yankees.

At least until he really blows a fuse and tries to push owner George Steinbrenner over the third tier at Yankee Stadium. President Gabe Paul has taken the rostrum to say he dearly loves a man with a little papi in his system — a guy like Bad Billy, unafraid of the consequences. They win ball games.

Steinbrenner, who has grandiose dreams of resurrecting the Yankees baseball dynasty but at the same time keeps an eye on the cash register, is hysterically happy about a team that scratched and clawed its way to the top and drew more than two million fans both at home and on the road.

And the fans — those rambunctious, smoke-bombing, bottle-throwing rascals from the Bronx — they'd rip the concrete facade off the ball park if the brass did anything rash in their scrawny, scrappy hero.

They love their Billy, as recorded by the applause meter every time the loud speaker sounds his name.

Critics keep firing this banal roster of baseball. It happened no less than five times during the regular season — count 'em. Remember Black Wednesday, Aug. 17 in Detroit? Now a national news magazine has Reggie Jackson pressuring the owner to give the manager the sack, or else.

But it's the same old refrain. And off-key. "An out and out lie," roars the controversial Jackson of the latest report. "Somebody just trying to get me involved again. It's a shame."

Steinbrenner was collared in the lobby of the Yankees hotel headquarters in Los Angeles prior to the fifth game Sunday.

He said the decision on Martin would rest entirely with Paul, whether you want to believe that or not. He gave every indication that he wasn't about to pull the rope on the guillotine.

Paul, confronted between innings, insisted. "Billy Martin is the Yankee manager. His contract has two more years to go (at $100,000). That's it."

Both big bosses acknowledged there had been ripples of discord at various stages during the season. Most of them were ironed out on the spot. Those which weren't will be taken care of before the 1978 campaign.

Meanwhile, it's pretty safe to say Martin's job is secure, unless he does something stupid — an act not beyond the realm of possibility. Billy is known to have a self-destruct complex.

Some of the thorns which have been gouging Steinbrenner's flesh have been removed. Billy has lost some of his arrogance, although he continues to maintain his independence. He has quit taunting his bosses. He is working better within the organization.

On the field, there is perhaps no better tactician in all baseball. In other categories, his marks aren't all that spectacular. He is inclined to be lax in administrative duties and in team discipline. Some say he stifles talent he doesn't like.

These are demerits which Martin's bosses are certain they can — and will — correct in off-season inventories.

Martin has discovered that he cannot slough off — out of personal pique — Steinbrenner's star free agent catch, $2.8 million Jackson. Now when Reggie produces, Billy gives him four friendly pats and an appreciative hug. Reggie often praises Billy in public.

This is the kind of stuff that makes owner Steinbrenner happy.

"When we signed Jackson, we expected four things of him," the Tampa ship builder says. "We wanted him to put fans in the seats, hit over .275, hit 30 home runs and bat in 100 runs."

Reggie belted .288, hit 32 homers and had 110 RBI. His electric quality, fed sparks by the adversary relationship with Martin, kept fans pouring through the turnstiles.

Steinbrenner, an astute business man, is not going to break up a neat toy like that.

Yanks Hope To Win Series Behind Torre

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Torre and the New York Yankees try to end the baseball season that began last February while the Los Angeles Dodgers test their hopes on Burt Hooton's knuckle-curveball tonight in the sixth game of the 1977 World Series.

The best-of-seven Series returns to Yankee Stadium with the New Yorkers needing one victory for their 21st world title. The Dodgers, trailing 3 games to 2, staved off elimination by winning Sunday and look tonight to Hooton, who beat the Yankees with a five-hitter in Game 2 Wednesday night.

The Hooton victory evened matters at 1-1 before Torre, who of the Los Angeles bats in the Series' pivotal game last night.

"I can't lay back and be fine," Torre said Monday. "I have to be right at them — be aggressive on the mound. I know if I pitch a good game and we win, we're world champions."

"I want to win it in a bad way," he said, pointing to his right finger. "I want the one (the one) that says 'World Champions'."

The Dodgers, who want to become the fourth team in history to come back from a 3-1 deficit, hope Hooton's baffling knuckle-curveball will be their savior.

"I'm going to try to keep Mickey Rivers and Willie Randolph (the Yankee's speedy leadoff batters) off the bases," said Hooton. "I think we'll be in good shape if I can do that."

Monday was a day off for travel in this cross-country matchup of traditional rivals. But it didn't stop the Yankees from adding another installment to their daily Soap Opera, which has been spiced with back-stabbing, second-guessing, personality clashing and firings.

Ed Figueroa, at first designated as the Yankees' sixth-game pitcher, cleaned out his locker on Monday. Figueroa has been ailing the past few weeks with a sore finger, but said he threw on Saturday and Sunday "and I felt 100 per cent."

Yankee Manager Billy Martin, however, got a different diagnosis after consulting the team doctor and two trainers.

"I know he wants to pitch but I'm not going to take a chance and put a man out there who is not 100 per cent in a big game," said the embattled manager.

Figueroa said Martin had given him permission to go home since he wasn't in the Yankees' pitching plans. So he cleaned out his locker. "Then I came back to my hotel and I heard he was saying that I left the club," Figueroa said. "But he gave me permission. It is just a misunderstanding."

However, the New York Times reported Figueroa as saying he wants to be traded.

In its Tuesday edition the Times said the 29-year-old pitcher said in a telephone interview from his hotel residence in Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.:

"I want to get out of here. If we win, I'm going to take a plane to Puerto Rico and then during the winter I'll wait to be traded. I was very close to leaving today."

Figueroa said he will be at the big ballpark in the Bronx tonight, as will be some 56,000 fans, a source of some concern to the Dodgers.

During Game 2, the Dodger bullpen was bombarded by bottles and an enormous fruit salad — one piece at a time. As the game ended, right fielder Reggie Smith was leaped by a rubber ball hurled from the upper deck, causing neck and back spasms that continue to bother him.

"The fans? They're gonna be there. The less said about them the better," said Smith, who has contributed two of the Dodgers' eight Series homers, the most by any team since Baltimore had 10 in 1970.

"I'm happy to be going back to Yankee Stadium. It's a big ballpark with big gaps and we're a gap-hitting team."

The Yankees wanted to end the Series Sunday in sunny, southern California, but won't mind the inconvenience of another outside work day in temperatures forecast for the upper 40s — provided they win tonight.

"It's always nice to play in our home ballpark," said Martin. "We've played real well at home."

But they have lost two straight in their home field six times this season, which is what the Dodgers are counting on here.

"Our victory (Sunday) decreased the odds," said Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda. "People were saying how only three teams have won three straight after being down 3-1. Well, that doesn't apply to us any more."

The question now is: How many teams have won two straight? That's all it is for us now."

Comet, Lancer Meet This Friday

McLean, Freer Bud Standouts

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Colma's Scott McLean and Lakeshore's Paul Freer are the unsung heroes of the Blossomland Conference.

Both runners are among the leading ground gainers and scorers in southwestern Michigan. Because neither plays on a winning team, however, the two haven't received the publicity of a Shelby Gamble, (the area's leader in both categories).

Coloma, one of the pre-season favorites in the Blossomland race, has a 2-4 record, while Lakeshore stands 3-3. But that's no fault of Freer and McLean. The duo presently stand fifth and sixth, respectively, in the area scoring race with 80 and 38 points. But the scoring closeness is about the only similarity between the two runners.

McLean, a husky 8-2, 180-pound senior, is playing football for the first time since his freshman year. McLean has rushed for 677 yards and is getting better every game according to Coach Bob Irvin.

"His basic problem was a lack of football experience," Irvin says. "He has a lot of natural athletic ability and is getting progressively better."

"Scott improves every game. He's hitting the hole better. He's running better and he's starting to find his blockers better in the secondary. That's where the experience part comes in. He's starting to cut back in behind his blockers."

"One of the nice things about Scott is that his teammates have confidence in his running ability so he gets a better effort from them. They know he can get them yardage."

McLean also has good speed, running the 100 in 10.5. And his running is, not the only thing which Irvin praises.

"He blocks well," Irvin says. "He's not just carrying the ball, he's doing other things, too. Scott is a strong competitor and has a great attitude."

Irvin found out just how great the youngster's attitude was last Friday against Edwardsburg. McLean left the game after the first quarter with an ankle injury. Later in the contest Irvin asked how his ankle was and McLean replied, "I can't run as well as Mark (Carier), his replacement is running, but I'll play if you need me."

"We see a team ballplayer coming out of him," Irvin says. While McLean uses his size to his advantage, Freer is an elusive speedster. The 5-11, 160-pounder has 4.8 speed in the 40 and is very slippery.

And another of Freer's assets is that he can score from almost anywhere on the field. The senior fullback has rushed for 416 yards and four touchdowns. He has caught passes for another 198 yards and four more scores. Freer has run back four punts for 114 yards and one TD. At his defensive safety slot, Freer had one interception and scored a touchdown with a fumble recovery and return.

"Paul can score from anywhere," Lakeshore Coach Dave Topping says. "His quickness is the key. He's very fast and has good balance. On defense, Paul reads the field very well. He seems to have an overall picture of what is happening on the field when the ball is snapped."

"Offensively, he's consistent. He doesn't fumble the football and seems to find daylight. He gets in the secondary and is a very elusive young man. I've never seen him drop a pass that's right to him. And when he catches one it usually means six points because he's hard to bring down."

Freer also has a sparkling attitude, shown by the fact that he is playing out of position on offense. With two-year letterman Odell Brister at tailback, Freer was asked to switch to fullback and he did it with no second thoughts. And the move has worked splendidly. Brister has rushed for 485 yards, keeping opponents from gauging up on either running back.

"He's one of our captains and is a good leader," Topping says. "We wanted him to touch the ball as much as possible so that's why we moved him to fullback. Besides, our fullback is just like another tailback, anyway."

Freer's 80 points puts him on par with the Lakeshore record of 90.

Interestingly enough, Freer and McLean will get a chance to show off their respective skills against each other Friday night. Coloma's four losses this season have been by a total of 19 points, while Lakeshore has dropped its three by a meager 16 points.

Friday's game should also be close and one can expect Freer and McLean to go a long way toward deciding the outcome.

Reed Returns To Knicks

Debuts As Coach Tonight Against KC

From ASSOCIATED PRESS — Willis Reed, captain and mainstay of the New York Knicks' 1970 and 1973 championship teams, returns to the club as coach tonight as the Knicks open the National Basketball Association's 32nd season against the revamped Kansas City Kings.

In other opening night games, Los Angeles is at Milwaukee, Chicago at Cleveland, New Jersey at Detroit and Golden State at Phoenix.

Reed is one of three new coaches in the NBA this season, but the only one who'll be tested tonight. Seattle's Bob Hopkins and Buffalo's Cotton Fitzsimmons start their seasons Wednesday.

Defending champion Portland does not play its first game until Friday. If the Blazers can win the title again, they'll be the first repeat champions since the Boston Celtics in 1968-69.

The New Jersey franchise

computed last year in Uniondale, N.Y., as the New York Nets, but will be based for the next two seasons in Piscataway, N.J. After that, the club is scheduled to move to a new arena to be built in the Meadowlands Sports Complex in East Rutherford, N.J.

Reed inherits a group of players with big reputations and paychecks to match. But many are weak in fundamentals, and that is what Reed has stressed during the exhibition season when New York won six of eight games.

Rookies Ray Williams, Glen Gondrezick and Toby Knight and trade acquisition Jim Clemons are expected to bolster the Knicks, who have gone through three losing seasons and have missed the playoffs the last two.

Kansas City also has some significant newcomers: rookie guard Otis Birdsong, the second man picked in the college draft, and two trade acquisitions, center Tim Burtleson of Seattle and guard Lucius Allen from Los Angeles. Coach Phil Johnson is hopeful this trio will boost the Kings into playoff contention.

Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the league's Most Valuable Player last year, has many newcomers in his supporting cast on the Lakers. Rookie forward Kenny Carr broke a bone in his foot and will be out for at least a month, but other rookies who will see action include guards Brad Davis and Norm Nixon and backup center James Edwards. Other new faces include forward Jamaal Wilkes, signed from Golden State as a free agent, playmaker Ernie DiGregorio, bought from Buffalo, and swingman Lou Hudson, obtained by trade from Atlanta.

Wilkes and Nixon are both expected to be in the starting lineup tonight.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, presents the youngest team in the league with youthful veterans like Brian Winters, Quinn Buckner, Junior Bridgeman and Dave Meyers and a trio of first-round draft choices — center Kent Benson of Indiana, a two-time All-American; forward Marques Johnson of UCLA, college basketball's Player of the Year last winter, and swingman Ernie Grunfeld, the leading scorer and rebounder in Tennessee history.

Chicago won 16 of its last 20 games at the close of last season and Coach Ed Badger hopes that will carry over into this season. The Bulls will be without forward Scott May for tonight's game, however, because of a strained left knee.

The new man in town for the Cavaliers is Walt Frazier, obtained from New York as compensation for the Knicks' signing of free agent Jim Clemons. Frazier spent 10 seasons with the Knicks, where he was the club's all-time leader in games, minutes, points and assists, and Coach Bill Fitch is counting on his leadership to pull the Cavs together.

The Nets, weakest team in the league last year, have strengthened their front line with center George Johnson, obtained by trade from Golden State, rookie forward Bernard King of Tennessee, a first-round draft choice, and free agent forward Bob Carrington. They're still shopping for help in the backcourt.

Detroit Coach Herb Brown is hopeful of avoiding the turmoil which tore apart his club last season. Forward Marvin Barnes, who got out of jail last Friday, should see limited action tonight.

Phoenix obtained the NBA assists and steals champion, Don Buse, from Indiana in the offseason and also added two rookies of promise, forward Walter Davis and center Byron Furrer. Golden State is counting on E.C. Coleman to fill the void left by Wilkes, and rookie Ricky Green to be a backcourt spark.

Payne Signs With Eagles

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Wide receiver Ken Payne, suspended by the Green Bay Packers last week and then placed on waivers, was claimed Monday by the Philadelphia Eagles.

"I'm feeling really good. I'm working now," he said upon learning of news several hours after it was announced. "I was playing tennis, trying to keep up my muscle tone in case something like this happened."

The Eagles, who got Payne for the $100 waiver price, will assume his contract from the Packers. Payne, who was playing out his option this season, said he would report to his new team today.

Payne had been fined $1,000 and suspended for one week last Tuesday by Packers Coach and General Manager Bart Starr.

Starr said Payne had been insubordinate on the sidelines during a National Football League game between the Cincinnati Bengals a week ago Sunday. He said Payne had made an indecent remark to assistant coach Bob Lord when asked to move to an area farther away from the Cincinnati bench.

Payne contended that the Packers were nitpicking and that the incident had been nothing more than a disagreement. He said he thought that the Packers might be making an example of him, perhaps because he was in the option year of his contract.

A hearing on the suspension had been scheduled, but then the Packers waived Payne, returned the money he had been fined and the hearing was called off.

Meanwhile, Packers' trainer Dominic Gentile said the condition of linebacker Gary Weaver's knee, injured Sunday in a 10-6 loss to the Lions at Detroit, "looks more encouraging" but was still being evaluated.

The Packers also said that it's believed that defensive tackle Dave Roller may have torn a leg muscle in that game.

But Starr said that offensive tackle Dick Himes and guard Steve Knutson, who sustained knee and ankle injuries Sunday, would probably be sufficiently recovered to play next Sunday at Tampa Bay.

Russell Among Missing As NBA Opens Tonight

From ASSOCIATED PRESS — The National Basketball Association opens its 32nd season tonight with several big names, including Cazzie Russell, missing.

Russell, who has averaged 24.4 points per game in his 11-year NBA career, was placed on waivers Monday by the Los Angeles Lakers as teams reached the 12-player opening day limit.

The 33-year-old three-time All-American from the University of Michigan played for the New York Knicks and Golden State Warriors, before joining the Lakers.

In addition to Russell, other veterans waived Monday included guard Herm Gilliam by the Portland Trail Blazers, center Otto Moore by the New Orleans Jazz, forward Byron Beck of the Denver Nuggets and center Roger Brown of the Detroit Pistons.

An eight-year veteran in the NBA, Gilliam, 30, was the oldest player on the defending champions. He averaged 9.3 points last season and 10.3 for his career.

The 6-foot-11 Moore became expendable at New Orleans when the Jazz acquired center Joe Mervin from Atlanta last week. Brown was a five-year NBA veteran.

Beck, 32, was one of two remaining original American Basketball Association players still playing. In 10 seasons, Beck averaged 12.8 points per game.

Pistons Cut Trio To Reduce Roster

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have cut their roster to 12 players by asking waivers on center Roger Brown, guard Louie Nelson and forward Don Adams.

Brown, 6-foot-11 and 230 pounds, is a five-year pro veteran. He joined the National Basketball Association Pistons last year, was released then recalled after injuries to other centers.

Nelson, 6-3 and 185 pounds, is in his fourth year in the pros and formerly played with the New Orleans Jazz. He was on trial with the Pistons as a free agent.

Adams, 6-7 and 225 pounds, was with Buffalo last year and play out his option. He tore his Achilles tendon during practice with the Pistons last summer and had been on the injured list.

The Pistons' first game of the regular season is Tuesday against the New York Nets.

The NBA originally had required the rosters to be cut to 11, but is allowing 12 temporarily pending arbitration between the league and the players' association.

Central Playoff Site?

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — Northern Michigan University has asked the National Collegiate Athletic Association to host a playoff game at Central Michigan's stadium if NMU makes it to the Division II football playoffs.

Gil Canale, Northern athletic director, said he received permission from Central officials Monday to use the stadium and had submitted the request to NCAA officials.

The conference is expected to decide on the playoff locations in mid-November.

The game would be held on the afternoon of Nov. 26 at the 20,000-seat Perry Short Stadium.

Canale said he was not sure what financial arrangements would be made between Northern and Central if the game were played in Mount Pleasant.

Canale said the school wanted to have the playoff at CMU because many students and alumni are from the Lower Peninsula and attendance would be greater.

"I know we could get at least 15,000 to the game," Canale said. He also cited better weather at CMU than around Marquette, where Northern is located. NMU's Memorial Field seats 7,400.

Northern, which is 6-1 on the season, went into Saturday's game as the fifth-ranked team in Division II with two games left to play. It defeated Wisconsin-Whitewater Saturday 36-14 in a nonconference match.

"We have not hosted a playoff game at Northern since we've been in postseason play," Canale said. "We are tired of having to go to another school for the game."

The top eight teams rated in Division II go to the postseason playoffs.

The only other playoff game played in Short Stadium was in 1974, when CMU was in the division and went on to win the national championship.

Deer Outlook Is Excellent

Prospects for deer-hunting archers is excellent this year, and firearm deer hunters also can expect a good season.

David A. Arnold, Department of Natural Resources' wildlife specialist, says there are slightly over one million deer in the state right now, with 25 percent of the animals located in the Upper Peninsula.

"It should be a fine year for deer hunting in Michigan," he says. "In the Upper Peninsula, the south central area has the heaviest deer population. In the Lower Peninsula, most deer will be found in a diagonal band stretching from Lake and Newaygo counties northeast to Oscoda and Alpena counties."

"This year's acorn crop is good and the deer will be in the uplands during hunting season," he says.

Last year, 10,220 deer were taken statewide by archers. That tied a 1974 state record when 7.8 percent of the state's archery deer hunters came home with a deer.

"We had a record number of hunters last year, 131,000," Arnold says.

Archery deer season opened Oct. 1 and will continue through Nov. 14. At that time it ends, temporarily, for the start of firearm deer season, Nov. 15 through 30. The archery deer season then resumes statewide Dec. 1. It ends in the Upper Peninsula Dec. 15, but continues in the rest of the state through Dec. 31.

Arnold also reminds muzzleloaders that their statewide season this year stretches from Dec. 2-11. These sportsmen must use rifle or shotgun, .44 caliber or larger, round ball and black powder.

As for the firearm deer season, Arnold expects this year to be one of Michigan's better seasons.

"A lot depends on the hunting conditions, since it's only a two-week season," Arnold points out. "But if we're lucky, we have a good chance of setting a record."

Last year, 88,000 bucks were taken by firearm hunters, making it the third highest total on record. The total deer harvest last year was 105,000, eighth-highest on record.

"This season the total will probably be higher," Arnold says.

He bases that estimate partly on the number of Hunter's Choice permits to be issued this year, 128,000, compared to the number issued last year, 115,000.

Fishing Report

The arrival of large numbers of lake trout at the Berrien Springs dam on the St. Joseph River highlights the southwestern Michigan fishery.

Crest counts by Alvin Aldridge, the ranger at Shumrock Park in Berrien Springs, showed a catch of 15 lakies Sunday, 16 Saturday and 12 last Friday.

Good numbers of steelhead and brown trout are also being taken along with coho and chinook salmon.

Sunday's check of 600 to 700 fishermen showed 50 coho, 61 chinook, 33 steelhead and 8 brown trout. On Saturday, 700 to 800 anglers took 43 coho, 54 chinook, 21 steelhead and five browns. And last Friday's tally had 250 fishermen with 73 chinook, 46 coho, 44 steelhead and 31 brown trout.

Aldridge says the little tad-polly and spawn have been favorite baits, with artificial spawn doing as well as the real stuff.

The Department of Natural Resources also reports that salmon runs are "gaining momentum" on the Kalamazoo River at the Allegan dam.

Out on Lake Michigan, there is "nothing good" to report, according to Lloyd Mallhagen of Mollhagen Fisheries in St. Joseph. "The boats just can't get out because of the weather. All of the charter boats cancelled over the weekend."

It's official, the Department of Natural Resources wants to build a fish ladder on the Buchanan dam and construct an artificial fishing reef in southern Lake Michigan.

The ladder and reef are included in the DNR budget request for fiscal 1978-79. If approved by the state legislature, the projects, could be completed in 1980 or '81, according to fisheries chief John Scott.

A fish ladder at Buchanan would move salmon and trout up the St. Joseph River to the French Paper Co. dam at Niles. The fish would also enter the lower Dowagiac River north of Niles.

Once the fish reach Niles, it probably wouldn't be long before an agreement would be reached with Indiana to move salmon and trout into South Bend.

"There's some interest down there," declares Scott. "We are going to get together pretty soon. In fact, I understand the Indiana legislature has a resolution to get salmon into Indiana."

If Michigan works out an agreement with the Hoosiers, it could see Indiana paying for all or part of the costs for a fish ladder at Niles. Indiana would also have to stock its own fish or buy them from Michigan. Either way, Michigan anglers would have the opportunity to fish over them while they are migrating upstream through Berrien County.

Meanwhile, the proposed artificial reef should improve fishing out in Lake Michigan. It would attract fish and serve as a spawning area.

Scott says artificial reefs have been successful in the oceans, but he looks on Michigan's first effort as "experimental right now." An exact location for the reef hasn't been picked, but it probably would be located off the southwestern Michigan shoreline.

Originally, there was talk of using tires for the reef, but Scott says our "state is environmentally conscious and tires won't go." So limestone would probably be barged over from Wisconsin.

There's a possibility of getting a second benefit from the rock reef. It is believed such a structure could help nourish the beach in the area where it is placed.

Because the legislature will decide the fate of the ladder and artificial reef in their budget considerations, Scott urges interested citizens to tell their legislators their feelings on the projects.

Berrien Looks Best In Survey

Poor Pheasant Prospects

There's not much to crow about when discussing this Thursday's pheasant opener in southwestern Michigan.

"I'm a little bit pessimistic about the pheasant thing," declares district Department of Natural Resources wildlife chief Bill Bartels. "Berrien and Van Buren look like the only good counties we are going to have."

"We've been criss crossing the district on the farm access thing and haven't been seeing many birds. And the farmers are giving us the same story."

Even the hope for a fair season in Van Buren may not materialize. The August band count by rural mail carriers showed pheasant broods were down 47 percent from 1976 in Van Buren, with the county's 4.6 ringneck broods per 10 carrier days being the lowest in six years.

New Trespass Law Detailed By DNR

There's a new trespass law on the books for this fall's hunting season. It requires hunters to have written permission from landowners.

But area law enforcement officers won't go around arresting hunters without written permission. They will make arrests only on complaints of landowners, according to district Department of Natural Resources law enforcement chief Gene Coulson.

Once there has been a complaint, any peace officer can write a ticket just like he would for any other game law violation. Under the old trespass law, the landowner had to sign a complaint before any action could be taken.

"We will make arrests on complaints of landowners," declares Coulson. "We are not going to pussy-foot it."

Allegan and Cass Counties had tallies which were down 49 and 18 percent, respectively. The counts were the lowest in six and five years, respectively.

Berrien did show an increase in brood numbers, but only slightly, with the 5.5 figure up just two percent.

The ruffed grouse season also opens at 10 a.m. Thursday and the outlook for that hunt is improved. DNR personnel have been observing more birds. The wet, brushy woodlots should be the most productive.

There will also be plenty of rabbits, but not as many as last season, when the DNR said the area had an all-time high population of cottontails.

Southwestern Michigan's waterfowl season got off to a "lousy" start, according to Bartels. "It was worse than I expected. The hunting pressure was pretty much like past years, but the success was down more than 30 percent."

A DNR check showed hunters averaged about three birds for every four hunters on opening day and last Saturday.

But the outlook for the Allegan grouse season, which starts Friday, is more encouraging. About 10,000 honkers are already at the game area and more are arriving every day.

Waterfowl hunting times for southwestern Michigan through Oct. 23 are 7:55 a.m. to 6:40 p.m. Other times for the rest of the season are: Oct. 24-29, 8:05 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.; Oct. 30, 7:05 to 5:30 p.m.; Oct. 31-Nov. 5, 7:15 to 5:20 p.m.; Nov. 6-13, 7:25 to 5:15 p.m.; Nov. 14-20, 7:35 to 5:05 p.m.; Nov. 21-27, 7:45 to 5:00 p.m.; Nov. 28-30, 8:00 to 4:30 p.m.

Orange Optional In Area

There's a new Michigan law requiring the wearing of hunter orange, but all hunters don't have to wear the safety clothing.

It's not required on private land, where most southwestern Michigan sportsmen hunt. But if must be worn on state-owned lands and farms leased under the new public access stamp program. It's also mandatory on county land and on areas owned by companies which are open to hunting, such as Consumers Power and timber company lands.

Area Snakes Get Ready For Bed

Michigan's snakes are getting ready for a long winter's nap. That's the word from a retired Department of Natural Resources game biologist and recognized herpetologist.

Donald F. Switzenberg, who was in charge of the DNR's Cusino Wildlife Experiment Station at Shingleton in the Upper Peninsula for 11 years, says snakes are getting ready to hibernate.

"Last year we had a cold fall. If the fall weather is warm this year, you'll see more snakes," he says.

That's because the snakes want to enjoy the warm fall sunshine before going underground for the winter, according to Switzenberg. Summer weather is usually too hot for the snakes to be out and visible, but a warm fall day is just right.

"The active season of snakes in Michigan is extremely short," he points out.

"Michigan snakes come out of hibernation in late April or early May, and gather around their winter denning grounds in late September or early October. At such times, snakes may be seen in unbelievable numbers."

Seventeen species and subspecies of snakes are found in Michigan. Some of these, such as the garter and water snakes, are extremely common in many parts of the state. Others are so rare or secretive that they are seldom seen by most people.

"All but one of Michigan's snakes are harmless," Switzenberg points out. "The only poisonous species, the Massasauga rattlesnake, is confined to the Lower Peninsula, but has been known to range as far north as Bois Blanc Island, near the Mackinac Bridge."

Although belonging to a group of snakes that is as deadly as any in the world, the Massasauga is not considered highly dangerous to man.

"Snakes occupy a variety of habitats in Michigan as elsewhere," he says. "The water snakes are distinctive in frequenting almost entirely the borders of lakes, ponds and streams, and are rarely found far away from such places."

Several of the smaller species spend most of their time under logs, stones, and other such hide-outs, coming out only to feed.

"Some climb trees with great agility," Switzenberg points out. "The case with which the pilot blacksnake, for instance, can ascend the vertical surface of a large tree trunk is a sight to behold."

"They have to get below the frost line," Switzenberg adds, "or else they'll freeze."

Switzenberg retired from the DNR in 1961 after 23 years service. He now resides in Okemos.

Coloma Twp. Studies Water Extension

COLOMA — The Coloma Township Board Monday night voted to seek the reversion of the Coloma City Commission regarding the proposed extension of city water lines into the township for fire protection.

The board is considering a recommendation from Leonard DeLeon, Coloma fire chief, who suggested that water lines with three fire hydrants be extended into the township along Red Arrow Highway east of the city limits.

The fire chief's recommendation was made to Supervisor Rodney Krieger to offer better fire fighting protection to the area where 21 businesses are located.

Krieger reported the tentative cost for extending the lines four-tenths of a mile is $28,000 and if the city approves the use of its water to the area, the need for establishing a special assessment district would be reviewed with business owners.

Earlier this month, fire at the Hipskind Building Supply, off Red Arrow Highway, resulted in an estimated $7,000 fire loss.

Coloma city firemen used additional water supplied by a Watervliet fire department tanker to fight the blaze.

Supervisor Krieger said if the lines are installed, provided the city approves the extension, the fire insurance rates for businesses located along Red Arrow Highway should be reduced.

In other areas, the board set truck or treat hours in the township from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Oct. 31. The board, in setting the one-hour limit encouraged youngsters to participate in the Coloma Halloween Party, slated to begin at 8 p.m., the same evening.

The board approved seeking information on charges for upputing either a state plumber or contracting with another township for township plumbing inspections.

Krieger announced a CETA application for an administrative assistant for the township office had been approved, with applicants to be interviewed soon.

The board approved sending Krieger, Township Clerk Jack Page, and Trustee William Kennedy to a four-week budgeting school, at a cost of $105. The course is tentatively slated to be held at Dowagiac next month.

The board tabled action on establishing township policy to assist township residents seeking road improvements along privately-owned drives in the township.

The board approved closing the township offices Friday, Nov. 25, the day following Thanksgiving Day.

Coloma School Administrators Salaries OK'd

COLOMA — The Coloma School Board Monday night approved salaries for administrators for 1977-78.

The salary of Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent, was increased from $24,000 to $25,354. The board did not act on a salary increase for William Barrett, superintendent.

New salaries for principals are: with old salaries in parenthesis: Victor Wier, high school, $25,254 for 48 weeks ($24,150); Jon Cousins, middle school, $18,000 for 39 weeks ($18,100); David DeFelds, junior high, $21,404 for 48 weeks ($21,300); Joyce Tutton, Washington elementary, $18,118 for 40 weeks ($20,637 for 48 weeks); Dwight Brink, Coloma elementary, $20,185 for 40 weeks ($18,783 for 39 weeks); and Daniel Stack, Pier-Egan, $16,812 for 40 weeks ($15,892).

Assistant principals whose salaries were set were: William Smith, high school, $19,470 for 41 weeks ($18,573); Marjorie Krieger, junior high, $17,132 for 39 weeks ($16,235); and Wesley Platt, middle school, $16,371 for 40 weeks ($15,451).

Other administrators' salaries approved by the school board Monday night were:

Wesley Arent, Vocational Director, $24,288 ($23,184) and Gerald Geik, Career Development Centered Curriculum director, $22,504 ($21,400).

In other areas, the board approved borrowing $270,000 from The State Bank of Coloma in anticipation of future state aid payments to meet current operating expenses.

The bank was the low bidder at 3.25 per cent interest from among three banks submitting bids.

According to Barrett, the loan will be repaid by May 31, 1978.

The board tabled action on appointing an assistant to Al Stamplly, head of the school district's counseling department.

Open House

COLOMA — An open house for parents of second graders at Coloma Elementary School will be held today from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., according to Dwight Brink, school principal.

Paw Paw Schools Get Grant For Videotapes

PAW PAW — A $78,100 grant to produce a series of 12 videotapes for use in adult education programs was accepted Monday night by the Paw Paw Board of Education.

High school counselor John Makowski said the tapes will deal with areas such as voting, how to balance a checking account, job applications, and what resources are available in the community. Once they are completed, Makowski said the tapes will be available for use in adult education programs across the state.

The funds will come from the federal Adult Education Act through the state Department of Education.

In other areas, the board tabled action on starting tennis and wrestling programs at the middle school. The cost of the wrestling program was estimated at $1,100, but no definite figures were available for tennis. Athletic Director Michael March said beginning the programs at the middle school level should lead to stronger high school varsity teams.

The programs will be considered again, along with board action on bids for paving of several school parking lots during a special meeting set for Oct. 25.

Elementary Principals C. William Wilson and Andrew Cook reported that there were six children at the Cedar Street School and one child at the Black River School who had not been given immunizations required of all entering kindergartners. If they have not received the shots by Nov. 1, the children will not be allowed to continue classes, the principals said.

Paw Paw Chamber Eyes Tourist Plan

PAW PAW — The Greater Paw Paw Chamber of Commerce is promoting a plan it hopes can add to southwestern Michigan's appeal to tourists.

Ted Plaszcak, chamber vice-president, said his group is polling other chambers to see if there is an interest in taking an arawide approach to tourism.

"Right now, all the attractions are being promoted separately," he said. "By coordinating our marketing we could attract even more people and get them to stay longer."

That marketing, Plaszcak said, could take the form of brochures listing attractions and maps suggesting possible tours. One such tour, he said, might begin in the Twin Cities, include stops at Paw Paw's wineries, Coloma's Deer Forest, and the beaches at South Haven and Saugatuck, and end with dining or shopping in Kalamazoo or Grand Rapids.

Another alternative, he said, is the possibility of setting up package plans that would include accommodations, transportation, sightseeing, meals, and shows.

Plaszcak said an informal chamber study indicates that some one million people visit the Paw Paw area's five wineries each year. But according to a recent Michigan State University study, Paw Paw is not developing its full potential for tourism because of not enough good restaurants and motels, he said.

By making a variety of attractions and accommodations available through out southwestern Michigan, tourists could be induced to stay in the area longer, Plaszcak said.

He said the Paw Paw Chamber will announce in the future the date and site of a meeting to discuss the plan.

Galien's School Budget Adopted At $1,221,902

GALIEN — The Galien school board Monday night adopted its 1977-78 budget calling for expenditures of $1,221,902, but with revenues totaling $1,100,759. To balance the budget, the $61,143 difference was drawn from the district's fund equity.

The budget is up $111,045 or 10 percent over last year's actual budget expenditures of $1,110,857, according to Dr. Robert Tilmann, school superintendent.

Total state and federal revenues increased from $853,628 to $744,719 this year, but anticipated tax revenues are down. Local property tax revenues are expected to drop from $387,136 to $365,425. Tilmann said the biggest increase in the budget was in the area of salaries which went up $62,000.

Tilmann announced that student enrollment had increased to 844, up 21 students from last year.

In other action, the board voted 4-2 to combine graduation and baccalaureate services. Voting against the move were board Trustees Alfred Gluth and Ronald Prehling.

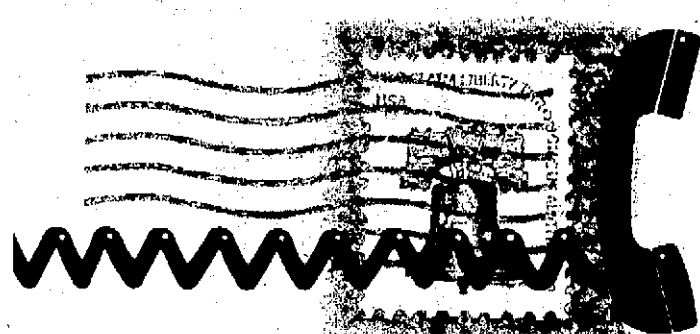

Gluth and Prehling, who were board Trustees Alfred Gluth and Ronald Prehling, voted for the move were William Geik, Duane Goodenough, Aaron Dickey and Dean Loxmeack. Roland Hahn was absent.

Last year graduation and baccalaureate were combined for the first time through a misunderstanding. Monday night's action made the combination official. Prior to last year, the two ceremonies were scheduled on different nights.

Berrien Springs To Fix Sidewalks

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Federal anti-recession funds totaling $7,900 were allocated last night by the Berrien Springs Village Council for repair of sidewalks throughout the village. The council authorized Glenn Keltz, public works manager, to advertise for bids for the repairs.

In other business, the council authorized Leslie Cripps and Associates, Berrien Springs, village consultants, to advertise for bids for renovation of the old courthouse office building.

The Courthouse Square. The bids are to be opened at the Nov. 21 meeting. Plans drawn by architect Victor Hoge, Williamston, Mich., outline two apartments for senior citizens in the one-story rear section of the building. The village has not yet determined a use for the two-story front area. The work is a project being funded by a 1975-76 community development grant.

Cripps told the council that applications are being accepted from village residents for housing rehabilitation aid under the 1977-78 community development grant.

The commission stressed the permit was not connected with Martin Marietta Aggregates' request to expand mining operations at another site in the city.

Martin Marietta is disputing with the city over the firm's request for expanded mining operations at its south mining site.

Mrs. Weber said extension of the Manley permit was granted under several stipulations, including one that Manley Brothers replant the area by June 30, 1978. The commission noted the action would not allow the firm to expand mining operations, but only complete operations now nearly finished at the site north of Lake Street.

In other areas, the commission recommended to W.E. Shriber Jr. that he go to the city planning commission with a request to rezone a tract of land on Maple Street near city hall from commercial to industrial.

The city board of zoning appeals previously turned down Shriber's request that a zoning variance be granted for the land. A new vacant factory building stands on the parcel.

Also Monday night, the commission set the times for Halloween trick or treating in the city for Oct. 31 from 6-7 p.m.

Acting on letter from Carl Gnodtke, Berrien County drain commissioner, the commission voted to ask Michigan Gas Utilities to relocate a gas main located along Church Street, south of Oak Street. A storm drain is to be installed in the area and the gas main needs to be moved, commissioners said.

Lawton Board OKs New School Budget

LAWTON — The Lawton School Board Monday night adopted a budget of $1,304,954 for the 1977-78 school year, up $121,032 over last year's budget.

According to Dr. Raymond Bandlow, superintendent, a big part of the increase in the budget is for items not included in last year's budget. He said those included a reroofing project totaling nearly $30,000 and a relocation in athletic funding totaling $15,000.

Last year, the board dropped the funding of athletics and it was taken over by a group of school district athletic boosters. Bandlow said the boosters will continue to contribute to the athletic funding.

Without including the new items, Bandlow said, the new budget is about 4.9 percent higher than last year's.

In a related area, Bandlow said a drop in student enrollment of 52 students will mean an estimated $55,000 loss in state aid. Enrollment this year is 933 students compared to 887 a year ago.

Bandlow said the decrease is not reflected in the budget adopted by the board and will mean "we'll have to operate a tight budget." He added that it is hoped the district will not have to dip into its reserve funds.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of aluminum bleachers for the high school football field from the Metalist Standard Steel Co., Three Rivers, at a cost of $12,426. It was the lowest of two bids. The stands seat 448, Bandlow said.

An appeal policy for athletes was approved by the board. The policy sets up rights and process of appeal for athletes accused of violating the athletic code. The process starts with the individual coach and includes two other committees with the final appeal body the school board.

The board approved a recommendation to the high school band director Larry Zomer and the band boosters for the band's division I rating at a recent marching band festival in St. Joseph. Bandlow said Lawton was the only class D school to receive the top rating.

Fennville Eyes Land Purchase

FENNVILLE — The Fennville City Commission Monday night agreed to seek information about the possible purchase of land for landfill expansion.

The commission instructed Commissioner Jessie DeLaLuz to talk with the owner of a five-acre piece of property just north of the city's landfill site about the possibility of purchase.

According to the commission, the area has been tested by the Allegan County Health Department and found suitable for landfill expansion.

In other areas, Commissioner

Charles Hiar reported the city's primary ambulance has returned to service after extensive repairs. Hiar said the repairs are necessary after an incident three weeks ago in which all the ambulance engine cooling water was lost during an emergency run.

Hiar said he anticipated that the repair cost would be high, but said there is a possibility that the ambulance manufacturer would bear the cost of parts with the city paying the labor charge. He said he has not seen the bill, but estimated it could be as high as $1,500.

Hiar also reported that the Fennville ambulance was refusing calls to Saugatuck Township except on a backup basis. He said the township had earlier this summer declined to join the Fennville area ambulance service. Ambulance calls in Saugatuck Township are handled by the Zeeland ambulance service, according to Hiar.

Commissioner Duane Hafer said that construction on the American Dwellings Apartments on North Maple Street is expected to begin in January. He said he talked with a representative of Hoffman Construction Co., the apartment builder who said that there was some initial design problems.

The commission set Halloween trick or treat hours in the city from 6-8 p.m., Oct. 31. Mayor James Clary said city firemen and Lions Club members would be patrolling during that time.

Incumbents Not Seeking Re-Election

FENNVILLE — Three incumbent city commissioners here whose terms are expiring are not seeking re-election and just two men filed as candidates for election to the city commission.

According to Clerk Dorothy Garlock, Robert Peterson, 644 East Main St., and Phillip Kwiatkowski, 410 North Maple St., were the only two who filed. The filing deadline was Saturday.

The non-partisan election is Nov. 8.

The four-year terms of commissioners Ned Bale, Duane Hafer and James Clary are expiring this year and all three declined to seek re-election. Clary also serves as mayor, a position which is filled from the commission in an election by the commissioners.

Watervliet School Bingo Okayed

WATERVLiet — A request by the Watervliet Athletic Boosters to sponsor fund-raising bingo games in school buildings got a narrow, 4-3 approval by the Watervliet School Board Monday night, after some sharp verbal exchanges between board members and athletic boosters.

Nearly 40 members of the boosters club appeared at the meeting with the proposal to hold weekly bingo games in the high school cafeteria.

They said funds raised would go towards restoring cuts in the athletic budget made after recent millage defeats in the district.

A.C. Bowen, club president, outlining the 50-week program, saying it would be similar to a successful one now held in Calumet.

In response to board questions, he added that other school organizations, such as band and music supporters, could work with the boosters on the bingo games to help earn money for their organizations.

George J. Shane, board president, noted that funds had been cut in many areas, including band and vocal music and field trips.

Board Trustee Muriel Lord, whose husband Rev. Harvey Lord is a Baptist minister, said that by allowing bingo in the schools, it could be considered the school supporting a form of gambling.

"We have an example to set for the students and by voting on this we are rubber stamping our approval," Mrs. Lord said. She added: "If you want to play in your home, that is okay, but not in the public school."

Several booster club members countered that her religious convictions should not be allowed to influence school programs, or the booster's attempts to "help school kids."

Bowen said, "The money we make goes for the kids, we are just working for them."

Others in the audience noted that state lottery money also comes to the schools and the state lottery is considered gambling by some.

Board Trustee Robert Sonnenberg said he disagreed with the booster club bingo request because taxpayers should pay for the entire school program and all educational areas have been cut because the taxpayers did not support the millage. A motion by Mary Louise Long, board trustee and secretary, to approve a contract with the booster club for the bingo games was approved by a 4-3 board vote.

Voting for the proposal were Shane, Long, George Lawton and Jordan Tatter. Opposed were Lord, Sonnenberg and Gordon Kreil.

In other areas, the board instructed the school's architects, Kingscill & Associates, Kalamazoo, to develop alternatives for the middle school building 'closed' earlier this year due to fire and safety code violations.

Administrators and architects are to meet in several work-study sessions to establish the district's needs for middle school students in areas of curriculum, enrollment, class size, scheduling, costs, sites, transportation and fire and health codes.

Working towards a Dec. 1 deadline, the board will try to determine whether to (1) renovate and modernize the existing middle school; (2) build a new school; (3) tear down the old school and make renovations and additions to existing buildings; (4) make minimal rehabilitation of the existing middle school to meet safety codes; or (5), stay as the district is now with sixth graders in the elementary building and grades 7-12 at the high school.

Administrators noted the elementary buildings are not overcrowded at the moment but there is a lack of storage facilities for books, equipment and other materials.

There is serious overcrowding at the high school since the seventh and eighth graders were moved from the middle school building to the high school.

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposed benefit dance with proceeds to the go to South Haven Community Hospital was declined by the hospital's board Monday night.

Administrator Wayne Eagleson said the South Haven-based hand Michigan Brew had proposed the benefit dance but hospital board members concluded it would not be appropriate to lend the hospital's name to the event.

Board members felt approval would have set a precedent of allowing outside organizations to use the hospital's name.

In other matters, the board was informed that a Michigan Employee Relations Commission hearing scheduled for this Friday has been postponed until Dec. 8.

The hearing is to determine who will be eligible to vote in a unionization election.

Eagleson reported that a new, privately financed professional building is ready for occupancy.

The county mental health department, which has used rent-free space at the hospital, is located in the new building and several private physicians are scheduled to relocate there in the near future.

The board said the hospital auxiliary will sponsor a breast cancer, self-examination clinic Oct. 23 at the Congregational Church.

The board also authorized use of hospital facilities for emergency medical training (EMT) classes.

Eagleson reported the Joint Commission on Accreditation will make its biannual visit to the hospital Nov. 15.

BH Fire Damage Is $60

Benton Harbor firemen said Monday they extinguished a minor fire in a Columbus Avenue house believed caused by a young boy playing with the burners of a gas range being used to heat the home.

Firemen said they responded to a 10:55 a.m. call and could see smoke coming from the front door of a house occupied by Bonnie Hubbard, at 758 Columbus. They reported three paper bags of trash were found burning on a stairway inside the house and were extinguished.

Bonnie Hubbard told firemen her son Shawn, 5, had apparently been lighting scraps of paper on the kitchen range the oven and two burners of which had been lit because of a broken furnace, according to firefighters.

Firemen said damage to the house, owned by Pearlline Coleman, of Utica, N.Y., was estimated at about $60.

Benton Harbor firemen reported Fire Chief Harold Gaddie responded to a report of a car fire on the 100 block of Eighth Street, at 10:17 a.m. Monday and used a dry chemical extinguisher to put out an engine fire.

Firefighters said the chief drove to the fire scene in a department auto because city fire trucks were at the scene of the Columbus Avenue house fire.

Gaddie reported a carburetor fire in an auto owned by Bonita Shoemaker, of 604 W. John Beers Road, Stevensville, resulted in little damage.

Dowagiac Dips In Reserve Cash

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac School Board Monday night approved dipping into its reserve cash fund in order to balance a 1977-78 operating budget of $5,830,984.

By dipping into cash reserves, the school will avoid a budget deficit that could go as high as $300,000, school officials said.

State law prohibits school districts from establishing deficit budgets.

The school system over the years has built up an $820,000 cash fund equity including $140,000 in receivables, but Superintendent Lionel Stacey said at its present pace, the district will only be able to go two more years before its reserve cash fund is depleted.

The budget approved last night had expenditures pegged at $5,830,984, up $787,000 over last year. However, income, without using reserve fund money, was listed at $5,282,046, leaving a deficit of $548,938.

Donald Welland, school business affairs manager, said hopefully the deficit could be reduced during the year and less reserve fund money would be needed to meet expenses.

Stacey said the administration feels the reserve cash fund should not drop below $300,000.

He said by maintaining such a reserve the district does not have to borrow as much money in anticipation of state aid payments. He estimated by maintaining such a cash reserve fund the district's savings nearly $80,000 yearly in local tax monies.

In the budget, local property taxes are expected to provide $2,138,619 and state aid $2,005,424. The state aid figure is down a little more than $100,000 from last year, since enrollment has declined by more than 100 pupils. The final million dollars in budgeted revenue will come from other sources, mostly federal and state program grants.

In other areas, the board ratified two labor contracts covering most non-certified employees.

A three-year contract was concluded with the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) covering bus drivers, custodians, maintenance and mechanical employees. Although food service is now contracted to an outside firm, such employees remain within the recognition clause of the contract should the food program revert to local management.

In a statement, Welland said the new contract provides hourly wage increases in each of the three years, more insurance coverage and an additional half-day paid holiday in the first year and a full-day in the remaining two years.

The SEIU employees ratified the contract on Oct. 11.

The other contract, the first with the newly-formed Michigan Education Associates Organization (MEAO) is a two-year pact. Administrator St. Miller, who negotiated for the board, said it provides hourly wage increases in the next two years, annual sick leave benefits and identifies working conditions. The contract covers instructional aides and hall supervisors.

Without discussion, the board accepted the 1978-79 audit report prepared by Raymond Suabedissen, Niles accountant, and voted to continue him as auditor at a cost not to exceed $5,900.

Mrs. Barbara Behnke was approved for the position of transportation supervisor, replacing Stanley McGrew, who resigned recently. Mrs. Behnke has been a bus driver.

Her salary will be $9,500 for 42 weeks.

The board accepted the low $1872 bid of Sherwin Williams Co., Dowagiac, to furnish and install new aisle carpeting in the Central School auditorium, part of a major refurbishing effort there.

Dowagiac Okays Pact With State

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac City Council Monday night approved a lease agreement that will allow the state to use a portion of the city's train depot for a motor vehicle license bureau.

The five-year agreement with yearly renewal options for another five years will bring to the city a lease fee of $4,777 per year.

According to City Manager Henry Graper Jr., the license bureau hopes to move into the depot by Nov. 15.

In depot-related business, the council approved the low bid of $11,900 from Oden Construction Co., Kalamazoo, for exterior and interior carpentry work at the depot.

Graper said the work is to be completed in 55 days. The bid was the low of three for remodeling work.

Earlier this month the council approved $34,393 in contracts for other remodeling work at the depot. It was part of a $50,000 grant from the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation for work on the depot.

The city plans to turn the depot into a transportation center for rail, commercial bus, Dial-a-Ride and other services available.

In other action, the council approved contracts totaling $19,825 with three companies for sewer and water line reconstruction and materials.

Approved was the low bid of $8,190 from C.E. Hess and Sons, Dowagiac, for excavation work. Also approved were low bids of AMS, Grand Rapids, for sewer pipe at $2,917; and Consumer Concrete Products Co., Portage, for concrete pipe, manholes and covers and catch basins totaling $8,715.

The work is to be done with funds provided by a federal community development grant. The work includes replacing old sewer and water lines in the city.

The council approved the purchase of two new police cars from Bob Howe Ford, Inc., Dowagiac, at a cost of $5,389 each. It was the low of three bids.

The council approved a resolution giving Graper permission to apply for state funds to purchase two new Dial-a-Ride buses for the 1978-79 year. Application for the funds will go to the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation. Cost of the buses is not known, Graper indicated.

Councilman Joseph Silvia questioned Graper's use of city work crews to remove a garage from Graper's property earlier this month. Graper responded that he was donating the old garage to the city to be used as a storage building.

Baroda Twp. Supervisor Calls Lemon Creek Rd. 'Death Trap'

BARODA — At the Baroda Township Board meeting Monday night Supervisor Orland Mead expressed concern over the condition of Lemon Creek Road between Holden Road and Cleveland Avenue.

He labeled the road a "death trap" and strongly urged the board to contact the Berrien County Road Commission in work out a joint plan for repair.

Mead said he received many complaints from residents. He said he would like to see the road widened, blacktopped, and the shoulders raised.

The board voted to ban trick or treating in the township. The Baroda Village Council has also banned trick or treating. As alternatives, there will be two Halloween parties.

The board donated $225 for Halloween activities.

In other action, a schedule for rubbish pickup was announced. Regular village pickup is every Tuesday, south of Shawnee Road, the pickup is every Wednesday, and north of Shawnee Road, every Thursday. Large items are to be picked up on the first Saturday in November for the village, on the second Saturday in November south of Shawnee Road, and on the third Saturday in November north of Shawnee Road.

Rules established by the board for regular garbage pickup are that each house is limited to three covered 20-gallon containers, or the plastic bag equivalent, not to exceed 40 pounds. The contractor may charge for any excess.

Funding under the Berrien County CETA program for four employees has been approved for a township drainage ditch clearance project. The Michigan Employment Security Commission will screen and refer prospective employees for the project which is to begin Dec. 19.

The board tabled for more study a request for an unspecified donation from the Lakeshore Summer Baseball and Softball Association. The association is trying to raise $40,000 for the purchase of a 20-acre parcel of land on Cleveland Avenue near Lakeshore High School.

The association has proposed construction of eight baseball and softball diamonds.

The proposed Cardinal Woods subdivision plat on Singer Lake Road was referred by the board back to the planning commission for further study.

Police Say Car Backed Into Tree

A Benton Township girl was ticketed for leaving the scene of a personal injury auto accident Monday night after another girl sought treatment at Mercy Hospital for injuries suffered in the car-tree collision, according to St. Joseph Township Police.

Patrolman Larry Eichelberger said Judith Ann Calhoun, 16, of 1597 Norton, was ticketed after Kimberly Ann Douglas also 16, of 164 Oden, Benton Harbor, sought treatment at 10:30 p.m. for head and neck pains. The injured girl was treated and released from the hospital but not before emergency room personnel reported the accident to police.

Eichelberger said he learned at the hospital that the Calhoun car collided with a tree while backing from a driveway on Marion Avenue near Parker in Fairplain at about 7:10 p.m.

The damaged auto was driven away from the scene of the accident, Eichelberger said, and the driver later transported an injured passenger to the hospital for treatment.

Two other passengers and the driver were uninjured, he said.

Police were unaware of the accident until called to the hospital, according to Eichelberger.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Turns Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices turned upward today in buying ascribed to technical forces within the market.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks edged up .78 to 821.12 in the first half hour.

Gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said stocks attracted some "bargain hunting" interest and covering of previous short positions after the market's broad decline of late.

But they also noted continued weakness over the prospect of a further rise in interest rates.

Alcon Laboratories was actively traded, up 1/4 at 38 after a 9-point jump Monday, when Nestle S.A. of Switzerland proposed a $42-a-share offer for Alcon stock.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 1.30 to 820.34 following an 18.71-point loss last week.

Declines nosed out advances by a 5-3 margin on the NYSE.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index dipped .05 to 51.19.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .87 to 114.82.

SLIPS AGAIN: Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, reflecting the subdued mood of the overall stock market, slipped 1.30 points to a close of 820.34 Monday. That followed an 18.71-point drop last week. But two takeover candidates — Alcon Laboratories and Miles Laboratories — were standout performers. (AP Wirephoto)

Record Set By Airline

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — North Central Airlines carried 415,844 passengers and flew 135.8 million passenger miles during September to set company records for the month, according to David E. Moran, vice president of traffic and sales.

Passenger miles were up 31 per cent from the previous record of 98.8 million set last September, Moran said. The number of passengers was up 12 per cent from the 414,804 carried in September of 1976, the previous record for the month.

The airline, which services 90 cities in 14 states — including Michigan — and Canada, completed 98.9 per cent of its scheduled flights between January and September, 92.2 per cent of them on time, Moran said.

SINGLES PASS EASILY

Most Dual Tankers Flunk State Test

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Most single tankers passed easily, but nearly two-thirds of all double bottom tanker trucks tested flunked a new state safety program in its first week, according to state police.

A total of 730 violations of state safety regulations were found among 159 rigs checked last week, state police officials said Monday — an average of more than 4½ violations per rig.

The problems ranged from exhaust system defects to worn tires and leaking tanks.

Of those tested, 132 were "double bottom" or tandem tankers, 28 were single bottoms and one was a delivery truck.

About 80 per cent of the single bottoms were approved, and the delivery truck had no problems.

But 83 per cent of the double bottoms were found to have safety problems.

The inspection program — conducted by 14 teams of state police and public service commission officers — was spurred by a recent rash of accidents in the state involving double bottom tankers. Seven such accidents in the Detroit area alone since the first of the year killed three persons and injured nine.

"The 83 per cent rate seems kind of high," said one state police spokesman. "We had expected opposite results."

All trucks found to be violating safety regulations are banned from the road. Once the problems are fixed, the rigs must be re-inspected before they are allowed back on state roads.

Of the trucks tested, 129 were condemned for defects in wiring and exhaust systems. Other common problems included leaking tanks, worn tires and faulty fire extinguishing systems.

"The inspection standards were very tight, and that's probably what accounted for the low number of double bottoms passing," said Paul Hill, public affairs director for the state police.

"Up until last week, the state had no inspection program, and many of the trucks probably put off for tomorrow the repairs they should have been making today."

He said the inspection teams are expected to check more than 300 rigs this week.

"Because the teams are better experienced, they can inspect the trucks more quickly. We think we can double the number of trucks inspected this week," he said.

Each team includes two state police officers and one public service commissioner. The inspections are being conducted at truck depots across the state.

Some 45 additional personnel have been assigned to the state police for the test program under an executive order signed last month by the governor.

The inspections should be completed by the Nov. 15 deadline called for under the order, Hill said.

Several measures are being considered in the legislature to deal with tanker safety problems. One bill, introduced by Rep. Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit, would ban the double bottoms entirely.

Datsuns Going Up About $150

CARSON, Calif. (AP) — Sticker prices for 1978 Datsun automobiles will increase an average of $150 because of higher costs for material, labor and shipping, announced a spokesman for Nissan Motors.

The prices reflect a 3.3 per cent increase over equivalent 1977 models. Robert O. Link, vice president and general manager of sales, said Monday.

The price hikes for the Japanese-made cars ranged from $48 for a two-door sedan model to $378 for a four-door sedan.

"We still consider our cars and pickup trucks to be competitively priced in the market price," Link said.

Toyota, another Japanese based car manufacturer, earlier announced a similar sticker price average increase of $180 for its new cars, a 3.5 per cent price rise over 1977 models.

A Toyota spokesman said he did not think the increases — ranging from $80 to $200 — would have a reverse effect on sales.

"Price is not the only factor that's considered by a buyer," said Chuck Burlingame. "For the most part, they're looking for features and quality."

Bridge Owners Shun Offer

DETROIT (AP) — The owners of the bridge linking Detroit and Windsor, Ontario have rejected a $22.5 million offer for the span.

In a letter to shareholders, the Detroit International Bridge Co. said it would not sell the Ambassador Bridge because the prospective buyer, a syndicate calling itself the Lederer Group, had not obtained financing or approval from the Canadian government.

Lederer is one of four groups trying to buy the bridge or the bridge company's stock.

Safety Council Changing Name

The Safety Council of Southwestern Michigan is changing its name to Blossomland Area Safety Council, according to Robert C. Primley, executive director.

Primley said the name change, approved by the council's board of directors, is to identify better the area in which the council does extensive work with industry, home, school, traffic and public safety.

Blossomland Area Safety Council serves an area, starting at the Indiana line and including all of Berrien County and parts of Cass, Van Buren and Allegan Counties. Service extends east to Calvin Center Road, east of Cassopolis, and north to Fenn-

Judge Tours 'Battle' Scene

By MALCOLM JOHNSON,
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Mich. (AP) — Neither side in the Pigeon River oil drilling battle is claiming an edge in the court fight over a controversial plan to expand drilling in the state forest, following a tour of the disputed area.

But although agreeing neither side yet had won, Judge Thomas Brown appeared openly impressed by the state's plan for the forest's development.

"There can be a plan developed to implement drilling in a safe manner," the Ingham County Circuit Court judge said after a day-long tour Monday through the remote northern Lower Michigan forest. "Whether that's enough remains to be seen."

What Brown saw in his trip through the forest will be applied to the court arguments which resume today in Mason.

Environmentalists have filed suit to block expanded oil and natural gas drilling in the 96,000-acre Pigeon River County State Forest.

Brown said his observations will help him judge their arguments that drilling will lead to pollution and destruction of the vast tract of swamps, streams and forested ridges.

Environmentalists contend state officials violated Michigan's Environmental Protection Act in granting oil leases in the forest without first considering other potential sites.

Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner has approved 11 applications to drill in the forest, under a 1970 pact with three oil firms. It imposes sweeping restrictions to guard against noise, odor, pollution of ground water and unnecessary destruction of plant life.

It was clear Brown admired the DN's restrictive agreement with the oil companies — which state officials admit was the result of pressure from environmentalists and the threat of a lawsuit. It limits development to the southern third of the forest.

But, he added, "Unquestionably there would be some destruction of the environment. The initial shock will be there. You have to balance that against the value of the hydrocarbon resources and the long-range future."

Roger Conner, attorney and director of the West Michigan Environmental Action Council, who filed the suit, first showed Brown a slanting, towering oil well on the edge of the forest.

Then he took the judge up a fire tower high atop a wooded ridge to give him a sweeping view of the southern part of the forest, stretching unbroken to the horizon.

Attorneys for the state and Shell Oil Co. led Brown to two proposed well sites deep in the forest and detailed steps taken to protect the environment. And they showed him a tidy multiple well site emitting only a low hum.

Conner said later the tour "neither helped nor hurt" his case. Attorneys for the other side were equally noncommittal.

If Brown — or an appellate court — does not block the drilling by Dec. 1, development could begin upon the expiration of a state-imposed moratorium during the elk mating season. The forest contains the only wild elk herd east of the Mississippi.

If approved, Shell is to drill on behalf of itself and other companies. State officials estimated that wells would operate for some 20 years.

LOOKING THINGS OVER: Ingham County Circuit Judge Thomas Brown examines potential oil drilling sites in Pigeon River County State Forest Monday. Brown is hearing lawsuit filed by environmentalists in an attempt to block proposed oil drilling in the area. A group of about 20 attorneys, state aides and reporters tagged along with Brown through the leaf-carpeted forest. (AP Wirephoto)

AMC Ups Prices A Bit But Not Gremlin In West

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. is raising suggested retail prices on its 1978 models an average of 2.7 per cent, but West Coast buyers won't feel the increase on one model, the Gremlin.

The average increase announced Monday — $100 — was far less than those posted by the Big Three domestic makers, who boosted their 1978 model prices about 6 percent.

However, AMC did say it was hiking the prices of optional equipment 6 percent.

By making some options standard and adding these costs into the base price, the increase in the base price for a stripped-down car is less than it otherwise would have been. The great majority of buyers, however, have taken the options anyway.

Other manufacturers have used the same tactic.

By providing some formerly optional equipment as standard, some 1978 AMC models will cost less than the comparably equipped 1977 models, the firm said.

As an example, the firm cited its new Concord, the two-door D-L version of which will be $33 less than the now-discontinued Hornet, which the Concord replaces.

Joining other automakers in the fight against the import invasion, AMC said its Gremlin model will cost $120 less in seven states than it does elsewhere in the country. Those states are Arizona, California, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. earlier announced discounts of certain small cars in those states, where competition from Japanese imports is fiercest.

Here are some 1977 prices and the change from 1977 prices. For the Concord, the comparison is with the Hornet, which it replaced.

Gremlin 4-cylinder, $3,540, up 4.3 percent; Concord two-door

D-L, $3,890, down 1.3; AMX $4,399, up 7.8; Pacer sedan, $3,998, up 1.6; Matador sedan, up 6.2 percent.

A spokesman said there will be no change in shipping costs. AMC 1978 models have been on sale since Sept. 19. They were sold according to tentative prices, which were the same as those announced Monday.

Charge Dumping

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Five U.S. steel producers are accusing five Japanese and two Indian steel companies of dumping one of their products on the U.S. market at less than fair value.

The Middletown-based Armco Steel Corp. said the complaint was filed Monday with the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington and dealt with sevenfold, half-inch steel strands widely used in prestressed concrete.

Broken Jail Sinks Send Him To Prison

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Two broken sinks at the Berrien County Jail will cost an inmate 2 to 4 years in prison.

Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes yesterday imposed the prison term on Steve Allen Holley, 25, of Niles, for malicious destruction of police property. Holley was charged with breaking a sink while he was an inmate at the jail July 27.

"Your past record justifies the sentence," Hughes said while imposing the prison term. Holley in April had been sentenced to 90 days in jail after pleading guilty in Berrien District Court to malicious destruction of property valued at less than $100 — another sink at the jail April 21.

Holley had been jailed to await trial on a car theft charge, but the prosecutor's office said that charge will be dismissed because of the prison term.

Another man was sentenced to two years probation by Judge William S. White, also for malicious destruction of public property. Milton B. Brister, 21, of 109 Sherman St., Gallen, was also assessed $250 fine and costs and ordered to make restitution of $300 to the Berrien Sheriff's Department.

He was accused of breaking two tube recorders Jan. 31 at the department's Gallen substation.

White sentenced Chris S. Beckleberg, 18, of 1635 Northfield Drive, Niles, to two years probation, with the first 15 weekends in jail, and assessed $400 fine and costs for delivery of PCP (an animal tranquilizer) Jan. 21 in Niles.

In an arraignment before Judge Chester J. Evans, P.O. M. Darrano, 27, of Watsonville, Calif., pleaded guilty to attempted carrying a concealed weapon, a .45 caliber pistol, Sept. 21 in Benton Township.

CELEBRI-TIP FROM INNAI

SHORE: "Cold tea is an excellent cleanser for window panes." Excessive handshaking at meetings and social functions can strain the heart, according to a research study by medical specialists... One psychologist says that families would get along much better if all members would indulge in pre-dinner baths. "Circledness and hot tempers somehow got lost in a tub of hot soapsuds." Graphologists say that if the tops of m's and n's are symmetrically curved, it reveals a person who is not easily adaptable to circumstances. Our Confusing Language: rye, wry, sigh, tie, why... A Libra person (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) often refuses to accept responsibility for fear of criticism, which he cannot endure.

BAR-SNOOPING: at Quo Vadis: Any light dinner wine will have a better taste with the addition of a few drops of cognac... Tea leaf readers say that a bell showing up in the tea leaves indicates either a marriage or a promotion at work... Famous Last Words: "I know by pure instinct just how much extra seasoning to put in the chili so it's good and hot but not too hot." Remembered Quote: "When you're a young man, Macbeth is a character part. When you're older it's a straight part!" (Sir Laurence Olivier, 1958)... Beauty Hint from Joey Heatherton: "Always remember to wash your face with an upward motion. Washing downward might eventually lead to a sagging chin."... Brandy added to a glass of hot milk is a good sleep-inducer. (Raitazzi, NYC).

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: For a delicious canape spread whip softened Roquefort cheese with dry sherry (Trader Vic's, NYC).

New Buffalo Schools Eye Budget Cuts

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo School Board Monday night set for next Monday a special meeting during which it will act on a 1977-78 budget.

But school officials warned that it may take some program and personnel cuts if the district is to have a balanced budget for the 1977-78 year.

Superintendent Walter Schwarz blamed some of the district's financial problems on a new state school aid formula and continuing failure of some local residents to pay their taxes on time.

A proposed budget presented at the annual budget hearing last night showed total expenditures to be $1,818,870 with revenues pegged at $1,768,935, a deficit of $49,935. Last year's expenditures were $1,743,909.

The board went into an executive work session following last night's meeting to discuss areas where cuts in the budget can be made to produce a balanced budget. The board said areas to be considered included teaching positions, counselors, special education teachers, school nurse, lunch supervisors, field trips, cleaning service, bus service, energy conservation measures, nutrition and co-op students.

In a budget message, Schwarz stated: "Each year the state equalized valuation of the school district increases. The problem lies in the fact that we have not collected more than .88 or .90 percent of the local tax levy." He said the average school district collects 94 to 96 percent.

Schwarz said the district's delinquent outstanding tax five years ago was $105,000 and now it's $216,000. He said this year the district can expect $139,350 in delinquent taxes.

Schwarz said five years ago when the state operated under the "grandfather" clause, no one district was allowed to receive any less state aid than it did the previous year.

With the advent of the state's "equal-yield" formula, the state says each district will receive a specific amount of money to educate each child, he said.

"This money is to be derived from local and state sources," Schwarz said. "New Buffalo being a high valuation district has gone in five years from 55 percent local finance to 75 percent locally financed."

has dropped 282 students over the past five years, Schwarz added. "When enrollment goes down, you lose state aid, but your operating costs remain the same."

In other areas last night, the board upon recommendation of its auditor voted to set up a separate checking account for the athletic fund and appropriated $7,790 from the general fund for current athletic fund expenses. Gate receipts from games will go into the fund.

Principal Thomas Miller reported that 1977 yearbooks have arrived and may be picked up in his office.

Miss Lynn Hoit, elementary principal, reported there will be an open house at the elementary school Oct. 25. Parent-teacher conferences at the elementary level are scheduled for Nov. 8-9.

PRODUCER DIES

Today in History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 13, the 21st day of 1977. There are 74 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1867, the United States took formal possession of Alaska from Russia.

On this date: In 1540, Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto was fighting Indians in southern Alabama.

In 1767, the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania — the Mason-Dixon line — was agreed upon.

In 1898, the American flag was raised over Puerto Rico shortly before the island was ceded to the United States by Spain.

In 1944, in World War II, Soviet troops invaded Czechoslovakia.

In 1971, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin was attacked by a demonstrator on the grounds of Canada's parliament in Ottawa but he was not hurt.

Ten years ago: An unmanned Soviet spacecraft dropped instruments on the surface of Venus and data radioed to earth showed that temperatures on the planet are hot enough to melt metal.

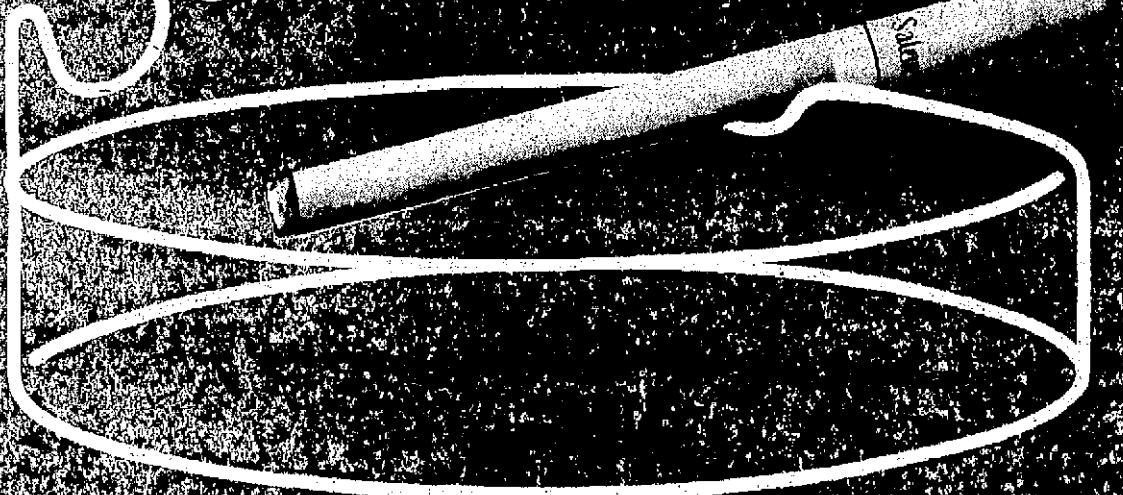

Five years ago: Henry Kissinger arrived in Saigon for a major review of the military and political situation in Vietnam.

One year ago: A peace plan for Lebanon was signed by six Arab leaders in Saudi Arabia.

Today's birthdays: Greek actress Melina Mercouri is 51 years old.

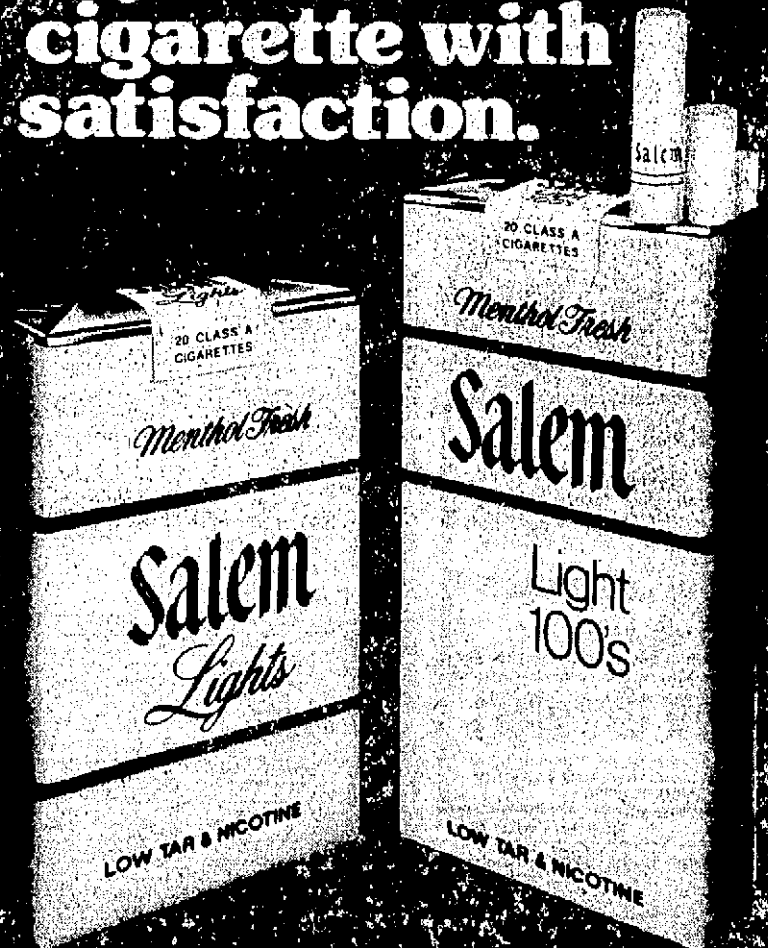

Thought for today: You can't separate peace from freedom because no one can be at peace unless he has freedom — the late black leader Malcolm X.
